The Director of the Federal Judicial Center, Professor A. Leo Levin, presented a report on the activities of the Center.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES COURTS

The Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, L. Ralph Mecham, submitted to the Conference a brief report on the judicial business of the courts during the calendar year 1985. The Conference authorized its immediate release.

JUDICIAL BUSINESS OF THE COURTS

Mr. Mecham reported that during the calendar year ended December 31, 1985, there were 2,246 appeals filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. an increase of nearly 52 percent over filings in 1984. During the year, the court disposed of 1,824 appeals, 69 percent more than in the previous year. On December 31, 1985, there were 1,379 appeals pending. In the other 12 courts of appeals, there were 33,880 appeals filed, an increase of three percent over the 32,964 appeals filed in 1984. The courts disposed of 32,626 appeals, three percent above the previous year, but 1,254 fewer than the number filed. As a result, the number of appeals pending in the regional courts of appeals on December 31, 1985, increased five percent to 25,676.

In the United States district courts, there were 278,793 civil cases docketed in 1985, a seven percent increase over the previous year. The district courts disposed of five percent more civil cases in 1985, but the 274,253 terminations fell short of filings by 4,540, resulting in an increase of almost two percent in the pending caseload. On December 31, 1985, there were 251,177 civil cases pending in the district courts.

Criminal cases filed in the district courts in 1985 rose to 40,974, an increase of six percent over 1984. There were 38,642 criminal cases terminated, four percent more than the previous year, but still below the number of cases filed. The number of criminal cases pending on the dockets of the district courts rose to 23,791 on December 31, 1985, an increase of nearly 11 percent.

During the year ended December 31, 1985, there were 412,431 bankruptcy petitions filed in the district courts, an increase of more than 18 percent over the previous year. Nearly 12 percent more petitions were terminated in 1985 than in 1984, but the 350,507 dispositions fell far short of new filings. On December 31, 1985, there were 660,797 bankruptcy petitions pending, an increase of more than ten percent.

Mr. Mecham also reported that on March 11, 1986, there were 11 vacancies among the 168 judgeship positions authorized for the United States courts of appeals, 43 vacancies among the 575 authorized judgeship positions in the United States district courts, and two vacancies on the United States Court of International Trade.

"GRAMM-RUDMAN-HOLLINGS" BUDGET CUTS IN THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE

Director Mecham reported that, in response to Public Law 99-177, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 ("Gramm-Rudman-Hollings"), he had adopted a series of reductions in expenditures by the Administrative Office of 4.5 percent, or approximately $1,300,000, for the remainder of the fiscal year 1986. The Administrative Office will operate at less than authorized staff; incentive awards and quality step increases have been frozen; funds available for temporary employment and overtime have been reduced; travel allocations have been reduced by a factor of 15 percent; all training has been eliminated except in emergency situations; and all controllable tenant alterations, contract awards, and equipment and furniture purchases have been deferred for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Mr. Mecham further advised the Conference that 17 new positions had been cut from the agency's fiscal year 1987 budget request, and studies were under way to determine whether additional cuts were feasible.

JUDICIAL PANEL ON MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

A written statement filed with the Conference by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation indicated that in the six-month period ended December 31, 1985, the Panel had acted on 172 civil actions pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 1407. Of that number, 133 actions were centralized for consolidated pretrial proceedings, including 74 tag-along cases. The Panel denied transfer of 39 actions.

Since its creation in 1968, the Panel has transferred 14,696 civil actions for centralized pretrial proceedings in carrying out its statutory responsibilities.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIAL BRANCH

The Committee on the Judicial Branch filed a report indicating that favorable action had occurred in the Congress on three matters affecting judicial salaries and benefits: Public Law 99-190, making further continuing appropriations for the fiscal year 1986, effected amendments to the Federal Salary Act of 1967 to make it easier politically for needed salary adjustments to be implemented without the necessity of affirmative congressional action; Public Law 99-234, the Federal Civilian Employee Contractor Travel Expenses Act of 1985, amended 28 U.S.C. 456(a) to permit Article III judges to receive reimbursement for travel expenses at rates or in amounts which the Director of the Administrative Office establishes in regulations approved by the Judicial Conference; and prospects have increased for enactment of legislation to improve judicial survivors' annuities by House passage in December, 1985 of H.R. 3570, the proposed Judicial Improvements Act of 1985.

COMMITTEE ON COURT ADMINISTRATION

Chief Judge Howard T. Markey, a member of the Committee on Court Administration, presented the report of the Committee.

ARBITRATION

As the Conference was advised at its last session (September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 53), ten courts are currently participating in the court-ordered arbitration pilot program. Since 1978, when the first arbitration programs began operating in the federal courts, this experiment has been conducted through the process of "authorization by appropriation", i.e., money to run the programs has been appropriated by the Congress, but the programs themselves have not been statutorily authorized by the House and Senate Judiciary Committees.

At the request of the Chairman of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties, and the Administration of Justice, the Administrative Office drafted legislation substantively authorizing the present experimental arbitration program. The Conference approved the draft legislation.

UNITED STATES COURTS DESIGN GUIDE AMENDMENT -FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDERS

Since the adoption by the Judicial Conference in March, 1984 of the United States Courts Design Guide (Conf. Rpt., p. 8), problems have been encountered in providing adequate branch office facilities for federal public defenders. The Conference approved a revision of Chapter 12 of the Guide ("Federal Public Defenders") to correct this matter.

RELOCATION ALLOWANCES

Employees of the judiciary are eligible for relocation allowances under Chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code, and regulations of the General Services Administration. Under 28 U.S.C. 604(a)(7), the Administrative Office pays transferred and certain newly-appointed officers and employees of the judiciary for travel and other expenses incident to relocation.

The Conference approved general guidelines governing the payment of employee relocation allowances. Under the guidelines:

- Judges appointed by the President are entitled to certain relocation allowances upon assuming the judicial office (5 U.S.C. 5723).
- 2. Any government employee transferred to a permanent position in the judicial branch is eligible for relocation allowances, provided that the employee agrees in writing to remain in government service for one year (5 U.S.C. 5724(i)) and the chief judge of the receiving court certifies that the transfer is "in the interest of the Government" (5 U.S.C. 5724(a)).
- Employees are generally ineligible for relocation allowances upon initial appointment, but may be reimbursed for relocation expenses incurred as the result of a judge's change of official duty station during the term of the appointment, provided that the employee signs the oneyear service agreement required by law (5 U.S.C. 5724(i)).

- Judicial branch personnel, including judges status. who senior primarily for their own convenience and at their own request, may not be reimbursed U.S.C. for relocation expenses (5 5724(h)). Staff members required to relocate to retain their positions would be eligible for relocation assistance, provided the one-year service agreements are signed.
- Contract relocation services authorized (but not required) by 5 U.S.C. 5724c will not be available to judicial branch employees because of the cost of providing such services.

PLACE OF HOLDING COURT

Upon the recommendations of the District of South Carolina, the Judicial Council of the Fourth Circuit, and the Committee, the Conference voted to recommend the creation of a new division in the District of South Carolina consisting of Beaufort and Jasper counties, with Beaufort designated as the place of holding court. The Committee noted that the County Council of Beaufort County has agreed to deed or lease, without charge to the United States, the Beaufort County Courthouse as a suitable location for the federal court.

REGULATIONS FOR DEBT COLLECTION

The Conference approved regulations to implement the Debt Collection Act of 1982 (5 U.S.C. 5514, amended by Public Law 97-365). The regulations establish a procedure for collection by means of salary offset of debts owed the United States by government employees, including all judicial branch officers and employees whose salaries are disbursed by the Administrative Office, except Article III judges.

COURT INTERPRETERS ACT

The Court Interpreters Act, 28 U.S.C. 1827-1828, provides that any person appearing in federal court who does not speak English well enough to comprehend the proceedings or who is speech and/or hearing impaired, should be provided with a certified interpreter or, if no certified interpreter is available, with an otherwise qualified interpreter as determined by the presiding judicial officer. The law requires the Director of the Administrative Office to certify interpreters, and fix their salaries and fees. All fees for interpretation of proceedings arising out of criminal or civil actions initiated by the United States are paid by the court.

The cost of language certification is extremely high, in excess of $120,000 per language for materials development, plus test administration expenses. The need for interpreters in federal court for languages other than Spanish is modest, with only one-third of one percent of the docketable events needing interpretation in other languages. Accordingly, the Director presently certifies only Spanish/English interpreters, although he also recognizes interpreters for the speech and hearing impaired certified for legal skills by the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf.

At its September, 1982 session (Conf. Rpt., p. 73), the Conference recommended that, based upon costs and infrequency of use, Congress should amend the Court Interpreters Act to give the Director the discretion to limit the languages for which he will establish certification procedures. The Conference reaffirmed its September, 1982 resolution.

S. 1853, 99th Congress, would maintain the same rights to an interpreter as are provided under current law, but otherwise change substantially the Court Interpreters Act. Among other things, the bill would require the use of certified interpreters in grand jury proceedings, require the certification within one year of eight additional specified languages, and require the Director to evaluate the performance of interpreters, both certified and non-certified.

The Conference voted to support S. 1853 to the extent that it would extend to grand jury proceedings the use of certified interpreters, where reasonably available at the site. The Conference opposed the remainder of the bill as unworkable, unnecesssary, and tremendously expensive. For example, the cost of development and test administration for the certification of eight additional languages alone could exceed $2,000,000.

REMOVAL JURISDICTION

At its session in September, 1985 (Conf. Rpt., pp. 50-51), the Conference endorsed the Committee's recommendation that 28 U.S.C. 1441(a) should be amended to eliminate the derivative jurisdiction doctrine. Two additional amendments to section 1441(a) proposed by the Committee at this session, to permit removal by "any defendant" and to provide that for removal purposes the citizenship of fictitious defendants shall be disregarded, were disapproved by the Conference.

COURT REPORTERS

The Conference declined to approve additional court reporter positions in the Districts of New Jersey and Northern California.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

At the request of the Department of Justice, legislation has been introduced in the Congress (S. 1674 and H.R. 3337, 99th Congress) to improve the resolution of government contract disputes. The bills would amend 28 U.S.C. 1331 and 1491 to vest exclusive jurisdiction in the United States Claims Court to afford complete relief (including equitable and extraordinary relief) on any claim relating to the award of a government contract, whether suit is brought before or after the contract is awarded.

While other parts of this proposal relate primarily to policy issues for the Congress, the amendments relating to expanded jurisdiction of the Claims Court and withdrawal of jurisdiction from the district courts are central to the workload of the federal courts. The Conference agreed with the Committee that the current multiplicity of forums to resolve pre-awarded and post-awarded contract disputes is inappropriate and, further, that the Claims Court is the preferred forum in which to vest jurisdiction over these disputes. Thus, the Conference endorsed these aspects of the legislation. However, the exclusion of district court jurisdiction over claims relating to the award of government contracts is drafted in language so broad as perhaps to be susceptible of unintended consequences. The Conference therefore voted to recommend that the proposed amendment to 28 U.S.C. 1331(b)(2) be redrafted or the legislative history made clear that the amendment is intended solely to defeat district court jurisdiction as to claims against the United States relating to the award of a government contract.

CIVIL RICO SUITS

The Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations provisions, 18 U.S.C. 1961-1968, were enacted as part of the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970. Section 1964(c) provides a private civil action in the federal courts for treble damages and attorney fees to any person injured in his business or property through a "pattern of racketeering activity". A veritable "explosion" of civil RICO suits has occurred in the federal courts in recent years.

While the policies underlying the statute are appropriate for consideration by others, the impact of civil RICO on the workload of the federal courts is an appropriate matter for comment by the judiciary. It is the consensus of the Conference that the impact of civil RICO suits on the federal judicial workload justifies narrowing the scope of this remedy.

The Conference adopted the following resolution:

Responding to the request of the Chairmen of the Senate and House Committees on the Judiciary for the views of the Judicial Conference as to the impact of civil RICO actions under 18 U.S.C. 1964(c), the Conference observes that the statute, among other things, appears to recognize federal jurisdiction in each and every case in which two or more instances of mail or wire fraud are alleged to have occurred.

The extraordinary penalties provided by the civil RICO statute (treble damages and attorney fees) are rapidly causing what would formerly have been considered routine breach of contract or common law fraud actions triable only in state courts, in the absence of diversity, to be filed in federal courts. This not only increases the burden on the federal courts, but causes friction with the state court system.

Further, in that actions under the statute may be predicated on federal securities or antitrust violations, the statute overlaps and may tend to confuse well-established separate regulatory schemes.

For these reasons, the Judicial Conference respectfully suggests that the Congress should seriously consider narrowing the reach of this statute.

FEDERAL JURISDICTION UNDER INTERNATIONAL CHILD ABDUCTION CONVENTION

The Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction has been signed but not yet ratified by the United States Senate, and implementing legislation to accompany the treaty will be transmitted to both houses of Congress. The draft legislation, which establishes the statutory framework for an international structure to deal with the wrongful abduction or removal by a parent of a child from one country to another, provides concurrent federal and state court jurisdiction to determine whether a child in the United States was wrongfully removed to or retained in the United States.

The sole issue considered by the Committee was whether federal courts should have concurrent jurisdiction with state courts over litigation under the convention. It was the unanimous view of the Committee that state interest in and experience with child custody disputes, coupled with the traditional absence of federal involvement in such matters, justified modification of the legislation to eliminate concurrent federal jurisdiction under the convention. The Conference concurred in the Committee's recommendation, and authorized the transmission of this position to the Department of State.

AUTOMATION

Judge Markey reported that the Committee had unanimously approved the Five-Year Plan for Automation in the United States Courts (1986 Update). In addition to providing timetables for the projected transfer of various systems from the Federal Judicial Center to the Administrative Office, the current Five-Year Plan discusses ongoing projects to address the next phase of providing word processing and electronic mail support to the federal judiciary (the Office Automation Project) and to implement a standardized network approach to communications within the judiciary (the Telecommunications Project).

Certain of the Five-Year Plan timetables may have to be adjusted as the result of budget reductions required by Public Law 99-177, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 ("Gramm-Rudman-Hollings").

FRIVOLOUS LITIGATION

In September, 1983, the Judicial Conference approved the concept of the exhaustion of state administrative remedies in cases brought under 42 U.S.C. 1983 and tasked the Committee with developing appropriate legislative language for further consideration by the Conference. Last September (September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 46), after spirited debate, the Conference returned the Committee's proposed amendment to 42 U.S.C. 1983, and proposed repeal of 42 U.S.C. 1997e, to the Committee "for an assessment of the draft's impact on the caseload of the federal courts".

The Committee reported that neither the Administrative Office nor the Federal Judicial Center is equipped to undertake such a study, the results of which would be imprecise in any event. Accordingly, the Subcommittee on Judicial Improvements has deferred further action on this subject.

FISCAL YEAR 1987 BUDGET REQUEST FOR SUPPORTING PERSONNEL

Judge Markey reported that, on reconsideration, the Committee on Court Administration had approved for inclusion in the fiscal year 1987 budget request two additional positions (one professional and one clerical) for the Office of the Circuit Executive for the Eighth Circuit.

COMMITTEE ON THE BUDGET

Chief Judge Charles Clark, Chairman of the Committee on the Budget, presented the report of the Committee.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1986

The judiciary's appropriations act for 1986, Public Law 99-180, was signed by the President on December 13, 1985. The appropriation approved for fees of jurors totaled $43,400,000, or $2,800,000 less than the $46,200,000 requested. Projections of increased juror usage, as well as an unexpected increase in juror obligations in excess of available 1985 appropriations, are estimated to cost an additional $1,000,000. A supplemental fiscal year 1986 appropriation request of $3,800,000 for this account was therefore submitted.

The fiscal year 1986 appropriations act also provided for 291 additional deputy clerks for bankruptcy courts. However, a projected increase of 50,000 petitions and 3,000 adversary proceedings for 1986 above the estimates included in the 1986 budget submission to Congress required revised workload projections justifying an additional 200 positions. A supplemental appropriation request of $1,200,000 to fund the additional 200 bankruptcy clerks for three months during the fiscal year 1986 was also submitted.

A further supplemental appropriation request, solely to transfer funds among appropriation accounts, was submitted in connection with reductions in expenditures made necessary by Public Law 99-177, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (see below). This act, known as "Gramm-Rudman-Hollings" for its primary sponsors, requires commencing March 1. 1986. across-the-board sequestrations of 4.3 percent be made in each appropriation category for the remainder of the fiscal year 1986. Since across-the-board cuts would have a profound disparate effect on personnel needed to support the administration of justice in the United States, the judiciary requested congressional approval of transfers of funds, from "Salaries of Judges" and "Expenses of Operation and Maintenance of the Courts", to "Salaries of Supporting Personnel".

The Conference noted that, if these requests are denied, or authority to transfer funds between appropriation accounts is not conferred quickly, furloughs of judicial branch employees without pay and/or deferral of civil jury trials, are distinct possibilities during the last quarter of the fiscal year.

"GRAMM-RUDMAN-HOLLINGS" BUDGET CUTS

Judge Clark reported that, in response to Public Law 99-177, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 ("Gramm-Rudman-Hollings"), the Chief Justice had directed the Budget Committee, after consultation with all circuit chief judges and chairmen of affected committees of the Conference, to make recommendations for reductions in expenditures for the fiscal year 1986 in lieu of across-theboard sequestrations. The Committee met in special session on February 18, 1986, and made a series of recommendations for the reduction of expenditures to the Executive Committee of the Conference. On March 5, 1986, after careful consideration of the recommendations of the Budget Committee, the Executive Committee adopted a schedule of reductions which. together with other savings and assuming authority to transfer funds between appropriation accounts will be conferred by the Congress, will enable the judiciary (exclusive of the Supreme Court, the Federal Judicial Center, the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and the Court of International Trade) to meet the sequestered amount of just over $40,000,000 required by "Gramm-Rudman-Hollings" for the fiscal year 1986. The schedule of reductions was reaffirmed by the Judicial Conference, to take immediate effect.

Included in the schedule of reductions reluctantly accepted by the Conference was a cut of $1,360,000 in the judiciary's appropriation category of "Court Security", relating to building or perimeter security and security equipment. The reduction would be realized by deferring the allocation of 60 additional court security officers authorized by Congress for the fiscal year 1986; restricting the acquisition, installation, and maintenance of security equipment; and reducing security services in some courthouses by eliminating some court security officer positions. Judge Clark also reported that the United States Marshals Service has been directed to absorb a substantial reduction of $6,500,000 in appropriations available for court security in the fiscal year 1986. United States Marshals Service Director Stanley Morris has indicated that this reduction will have a highly adverse effect on prisoner transportation and courtroom security.

Seriously concerned with the impact these cuts would have on the security of the courts, the Conference unanimously approved the following resolution and authorized its transmission to representatives of the executive and legislative branches:

WHEREAS the Judicial Conference of the United States is aware of the need to economize during the present budget crisis, and is determined that the judiciary shall comply fully with the letter and spirit of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings, but recognizes also that the effective operation of the judicial system is essential to the Nation's well-being;

WHEREAS the Courts of the United States have traditionally been open long hours and days substantially beyond a 9-5, five-day week; and

WHEREAS personnel of the courts and the Department of Justice work in the courthouses early and late, seven days a week; and

WHEREAS many courts are in high-crime areas and have been attacked directly and through their personnel; and

WHEREAS it is essential to the effective administration of justice that security, heat and air conditioning be available in federal courthouses when the courthouse must be open;

BE IT RESOLVED that necessary funds and facilities be made available to keep courthouses open, habitable and secure at the times needed in the reasonable exercise of the courts' discretion.

The Executive Committee also made additional recommendations for further action in response to "Gramm-Rudman-Hollings". As adopted by the Judicial Conference, those recommendations include (1) urging the consolidation of district and bankruptcy clerks' offices, where savings are feasible; (2) encouraging district judges, bankruptcy judges, and magistrates to utilize electronic sound recording equipment for the recording of proceedings in court or in chambers in lieu of official court reporters and/or contractual services; (3) requesting that Congress amend 28 U.S.C. 333 to authorize biennial circuit conferences; (4) suggesting annual rather than semiannual meetings of metropolitan chief judges; (5) authorizing annual rather than semiannual meetings of circuit executives; (6) requesting that the Chief Justice consider reducing the number of Judicial Conference committees and the number of committee meetings during the period of deficit reductions; (7) encouraging the imposition of sanctions upon counsel and/or parties for tardy notification of settlement contributing to the calling of unnecessary venirepersons; (8) urging courts to utilize optical scanning equipment for juror qualification purposes, which could eliminate hundreds (if not thousands) of labor intensive hours; (9) requesting the Jury Committee of the Judicial Conference to study the effect of assessing jury costs in civil actions against litigants; (10) continuing to decentralize the budgetary process; (11) requesting that Congress increase civil filing fees from $60 to $120; (12) requesting that Congress increase bankruptcy filing fees in Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 cases from $60 to $80; (13) requesting the appropriate committees of the Judicial Conference to study the possibility of increasing the entire range of miscellaneous fees prescribed by the Judicial Conference; (14) requesting that Congress implement an incentive awards program under which employees could obtain cash awards for ideas leading to substantial cost savings; (15) requesting that Congress eliminate diversity of citizenship jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. 1332; and (16) authorizing, as a last resort, end-of-year emergency measures including furloughs of personnel without pay.

JUDICIAL ETHICS COMMITTEE

Judge John H. Pratt, Chairman of the Judicial Ethics Committee, presented the report of the Committee.

ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMITTEE

Judge Pratt reported that the Committee had received 1,998 financial disclosure reports for the calendar year 1985, including 996 reports from judicial officers and 1,002 reports from judicial employees, and had addressed 653 letters of inquiry to reporting individuals.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON CODES OF CONDUCT

Chief Judge Howard T. Markey, Chairman of the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct, presented the report of the Committee.

ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMITTEE

Since its last report, the Committee received 17 inquiries and issued 14 advisory responses. The Chairman also responded to 15 telephone inquiries that did not require reference to the Committee. The Committee is publishing an opinion dealing with the implications of Canons 4 and 5 on judges' writing and lecturing, use of government resources, control of advertising, etc.

COMMITTEE ON INTERCIRCUIT ASSIGNMENTS

The Committee on Intercircuit Assignments filed a report indicating that during the period August 15, 1985 through February 15, 1986, the Committee had recommended 58 intercircuit assignments to be undertaken by 40 judges. Of this number, nine were senior circuit judges, three were active circuit judges, 19 were senior district judges, four were active district judges, three were senior judges of the Court of International Trade, and two were active judges of the Court of International Trade.

Of the 58 assignments approved, 19 judges undertook 34 assignments to the courts of appeals, and 22 judges undertook 24 assignments to the district courts.

COMMITTEE ON RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

Judge Edward T. Gignoux, Chairman of the Standing Committee on Rules of Practice and Procedure, presented the report of the Committee.

RULES AMENDMENTS

Judge Gignoux reported that the Committee anticipated submitting gender-neutralizing amendments to the Criminal and Bankruptcy Rules to the September, 1986 session of the Judicial Conference. So that all such rules amendments may be considered simultaneously, the Conference deferred consideration of gender-neutralizing amendments to the Rules of Evidence and the Civil Rules until its next session.

COMMITTEE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE PROBATION SYSTEM

Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat, Chairman of the Committee on the Administration of the Probation System, presented the report of the Committee.

SENTENCING INSTITUTES

In September, 1985 (Conf. Rpt., p. 60), the Conference approved the tentative program for an Institute on Sentencing for the judges of the Ninth Circuit to be held at Phoenix, Arizona, April 21-23, 1986. The Committee submitted the final agenda for the sentencing institute, which the Conference approved. A proposed Joint Institute on Sentencing for the judges of the Second and Sixth Circuits on March 17-19, 1986, also approved by the Conference in September, 1985 (Conf. Rpt., p. 60), was cancelled at the request of the chief judges of the Second and Sixth Circuits.

COMPREHENSIVE CRIME CONTROL ACT OF 1984

At its session in March, 1985 (Conf. Rpt., p. 21), the Conference authorized the Probation Committee to draft technical and conforming amendments to improve the operation of the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 (P.L. 98-473). The judiciary's views were shared with the Department of Justice at the Department's request. As the Conference was advised at its last session (September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 60), legislation introduced at the Department's behest (S. 1236 and H.R. 2774, 99th Congress) adopts many but not all of the judiciary's suggestions.

On December 12, 1985, the Senate Judiciary Committee ordered reported S. 1236. The reported version of the bill deleted all references to criminal fines and their receipt by clerks of court, thus eliminating two sections opposed by the judiciary (September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., pp. 61-62), but also deleted several sections which the Probation Committee had recommended. The Senate Judiciary Committee has indicated that it will address these and other concerns of the judicial branch later this year.

Congressman Kastenmeier has introduced as H.R. 3541, 99th Congress, most of the provisions of the Department's bill (H.R. 2774) which fall within the jurisdiction of his Judiciary

Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties, and the Administration of Justice. The Conference voted to support enactment of sections 3 (restoring the authority of the Director of the Administrative Office to contract for drug aftercare) and 6 (permitting probation officers to supervise protected witnesses on probation or parole under state law) of H.R. 3541.

CRIMINAL FINE COLLECTION

Judge Tjoflat advised the Conference that the dispute between the Department of Justice and the judiciary concerning the collection of criminal fine payments remains unresolved. It is the position of the Judicial Conference that, as a matter of law, the Attorney General is charged with the responsibility of collecting criminal fines and, as a matter of policy, it is inappropriate for the judiciary to collect criminal fines except in limited circumstances where it is in the public interest for the courts to perform this executive branch function (September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., pp. 61-62). The Conference approved a clarifying amendment to the Criminal Fine Enforcement Act of 1984 (P.L. 98-596) consistent with this position, in the event such amending language is requested by the Congress.

RESTITUTION

In Robinson v. McGuigan, No. 84-5077 (2d Cir., decided October 30, 1985), the Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit held that state court-ordered criminal restitution is dischargeable in bankruptcy. Previous decisions of other circuits had held that federal court-ordered criminal restitution was not dischargeable. While the Bankruptcy Code prohibits the discharge of "fines", the Robinson court construed restitution to be a "debt", and therefore dischargeable. H.R. 3742, 99th Congress, introduced on November 12, 1985, would amend title 11 of the United States Code to make court-ordered criminal restitution nondischargeable in bankruptcy.

Since H.R. 3742 affects a sentencing court's discretion by clearing up a perceived limitation on that discretion, it is an appropriate matter for consideration by the judiciary. Upon the recommendation of the Probation and Bankruptcy Committees, the Conference voted to endorse H.R. 3742 to the extent that it would make federal restitution orders nondischargeable in bankruptcy. Application of the bankruptcy laws of the United States to state criminal sentences, including restitution, is a policy determination for the Congress.

COMMITTEE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE BANKRUPTCY SYSTEM

Judge Robert E. DeMascio, Chairman of the Committee on the Administration of the Bankruptcy System, presented the report of the Committee.

REVISED GUIDELINES FOR CHAPTER 13 ADMINISTRATION

Since 1963 (September 1963 Session, Conf. Rpt., pp. 87-88), the Judicial Conference has promulgated, and periodically revised, guidelines for Chapter 13 administration in order to promote trustee supervision practices among the districts and to prevent undesirable actions on the part of the trustees. Upon the recommendation of the Committee, the Conference approved revisions in the Chapter 13 guidelines to provide greater guidance and detail to the courts in trustee supervision.

NOTICING GUIDELINES

The judiciary's current appropriations act encourages the courts to place the burden and expense of bankruptcy noticing on the litigants rather than the taxpayers. Draft noticing guidelines, prepared to assist in the implementation of this policy, were circulated for the views of all bankruptcy judges and clerks, reviewed by the Committee, and approved by the Conference.

BANKRUPTCY ESTATE ADMINISTRATION

Judge DeMascio noted that the Committee had reviewed the existing policy on the U.S. Trustee Program, under the Department of Justice, to administer bankruptcy estates pending before the courts. Since September, 1977 (Conf. Rpt., pp. 72-73), the Conference has opposed such a system and favored authorization of a position within the judiciary to perform these duties. The Bankruptcy Committee, after a thorough review, reaffirmed its support for the existing Conference position.

Legislation now pending in the Congress (S. 1961, H.R. 2660, and H.R. 3664, 99th Congress) would expand the U.S. Trustee Program to a permanent, nationwide program. Another proposal would expand the pilot program on an interim basis. The Conference authorized the Committee to continue its efforts in opposition to any extension or expansion of the U.S. Trustee Program.

COMMITTEE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE FEDERAL MAGISTRATES SYSTEM

Judge Otto R. Skopil, Jr., Chairman of the Committee on the Administration of the Federal Magistrates System, presented the report of the Committee.

COMMITTEE TO IMPLEMENT THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT

Judge Thomas J. MacBride, Chairman of the Committee to Implement the Criminal Justice Act, presented the report of the Committee.

APPOINTMENTS AND PAYMENTS

Judge MacBride submitted to the Conference a report on appointments and payments under the Criminal Justice Act for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1985. The report indicated that Congress appropriated $64,367,000 for "Defender Services" for the fiscal year 1985. At the time the report was prepared, the estimate of appropriations expenditures for the fiscal year 1985 was approximately $59,051,000, leaving an estimated balance of $5,316,000 to be carried forward into the fiscal year 1986.

During the year, approximately 54,600 persons were represented under the Criminal Justice Act, compared to 50,704 persons represented during the fiscal year 1984, an increase of 7.7 percent. Of these persons, federal public and community defender organizations represented 28,680 or 52.5 percent of the total representations, compared to 53.9 percent in the fiscal year 1984 and 52.2 percent in the fiscal year 1983.

The Conference authorized the Director of the Administrative Office to transmit the report to all chief judges, all federal defender organizations, and others who may request copies.

EUDGET REQUESTS -FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDERS

The Conference approved supplemental funding requests for federal public defender offices for the fiscal years 1986 and 1987 as follows:

District Fiscal Year 1986 1986 Minnesota $ 20,800 Ohio, Northern $ 56,739	Fiscal Year 1987
Minnesota Ohio, Northern		$ 9,600 $ 58,275

CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT AMENDMENTS

The Conference voted to recommend that the Criminal Justice Act, 18 U.S.C. 3006A, be amended:

- To authorize, but not require, the delegation of a circuit chief judge's excess fee approval authority to an active circuit judge selected by the chief judge; and
- To establish a holdover provision to permit the continued service of a federal public defender upon the expiration of the term of office, until a successor is appointed or for one year, whichever is earlier.

Another proposed Criminal Justice Act amendment, requiring Judicial Conference approval of the establishment or disestablishment of a federal defender organization, was disapproved by the Conference.

COMMITTEE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CRIMINAL LAW

Judge John D. Butzner, Jr., Chairman of the Committee on the Administration of the Criminal Law, presented the report of the Committee.

HABEAS CORPUS

In September, 1985 (Conf. Rpt., pp. 80-81), the Conference voted to endorse section 5 of S. 238, 99th Congress, which would amend 28 U.S.C. 2254(b) to permit an application for a writ of habeas corpus to be denied on the merits notwithstanding the failure of the applicant to exhaust the remedies available in state court. Consideration of section 3 (a proposed amendment to 28 U.S.C. 2253 to vest in the judges of the courts of appeals exclusive authority to issue certificates of probable cause for appeal in habeas corpus proceedings, and to create an identical certificate requirement for appeals by federal prisoners in collateral relief proceedings pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 2255) and section 4 (a proposed amendment to Rule 22 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure to conform to the procedures in 28 U.S.C. 2253) was deferred by the Conference, pending a Committee solicitation and evaluation of the views of the circuit and district chief judges on the provisions.

Judge Butzner reported that responses from 10 courts of appeals and 47 district courts indicated that the courts were approximately evenly divided in their support for, and opposition to, the legislation.

The Conference voted to oppose enactment of S. 238 to the extent that it would amend 28 U.S.C. 2253 to confer exclusive authority to issue certificates of probable cause on the judges of the courts of appeals. Thus, the Conference voted to retain the current authority of district courts to certify habeas corpus proceedings for appeal. With respect to creation of a certificate requirement for appeals from denials of relief under 28 U.S.C. 2255, the Conference voted to support the creation of a certificate requirement comparable to that currently found in 28 U.S.C. 2253.

ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCE

S. 1667 and H.R. 3378, 99th Congress, would extend the protections against unauthorized interception afforded by Chapter 19 of title 18, United States Code, to advanced forms of electronic communications. In addition, the bills would restrict the installation and use of pen registers and tracking devices by law enforcement officers who apply for and obtain court orders authorizing such devices: before granting an order, a court would be required to find that there is reasonable cause (in the case of a pen register) or probable cause (in the case of a tracking device) to believe that the information likely to be obtained is relevant to a legitimate criminal investigation.

While the substantive provisions of these bills present questions of policy for resolution by the Congress, the Committee observed that the requirement for obtaining a court order for the installation or use of a pen register or tracking device does not explicitly provide that the order could be issued by a United States magistrate. The Conference concluded that in the event of enactment of this legislation, Congress should be asked to draft the legislative history to show that judges would be permitted to authorize magistrates to entertain such applications and issue orders.

GRAND JURY SECRECY

S. 1676 and H.R. 3340, 99th Congress, the proposed "Grand Jury Disclosure Amendments Act of 1985", were introduced at the request of the Department of Justice. The bills would amend Rule 6(e)(3) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure (1) to permit automatic disclosure of grand jury materials to Department of Justice attorneys for civil purposes without a court order; (2) to permit the Department of Justice to apply for court authorization to disclose grand jury materials to other executive departments and agencies for their use in matters within their jurisdiction, such as adjudicative and administrative proceedings; and (3) to reduce the "particularized need" standard for court-authorized disclosure to a lesser standard of "substantial need" in certain circumstances. S. 1562, 99th Congress, would make similar changes in Rule 6(e)(3), except that it does not specifically provide that only the Justice Department can request a disclosure order (implying that other agencies may do so as well), and it authorizes disclosure not just to personnel of executive departments and agencies, but also to "any committee of Congress".

These bills were reviewed by both the Criminal Law and Jury Committees. The Committees agreed that while enactment of the proposed amendments to Rule 6 of the Criminal Rules is primarily a legislative rather than a judicial question, the amendments could have a considerable impact upon the courts and the functioning of the criminal process. The Committees prepared a joint report discussing various premises Congress might keep in mind in evaluating the legislative proposals. The Conference voted to approve the joint report.

BRIBES AND GRATUITIES ACT OF 1985

The proposed Bribes and Gratuities Act of 1985 (S. 1675 and H.R. 3336, 99th Congress) would permit the United States to terminate for cause any contract, grant, or other benefit, and to assess exemplary damages, if an "authority head" inds after notice and hearing that a person who has been awarded some benefit by the United States obtained or attempted to influence the award of the benefit through some form of bribery. Alternatively, the authority head could, after notice and hearing, declare void and rescind any contract, grant, or other benefit tainted by bribery, retain all benefits received, and recover all benefits conferred by the United States pursuant to the contract, grant, service, or other benefit.

In general, S. 1675 and H.R. 3336 present policy matters for resolution by the Congress. However, the Committee observed that, as written, the statute would apply to any person who "is awarded a contract . . . by any agency of the United States". The Committee found this language to be unclear, and therefore potentially the subject of litigation, on the question of whether the legislation would apply in situations in which a bribe or gratuity were given to an officer or employee of an agency administering federal grants, even though the person were not employed by the United States. The Committee recommended clarification of this ambiguity in the event of enactment of the bill, and the Conference agreed.

BAIL REFORM ACT AMENDMENTS

As noted in the discussion at pages 19-20 entitled "Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984", Congressman Kastenmeier has introduced as H.R. 3541, 99th Congress, most of the provisions of the Department of Justice's proposed amendments to the Act (P.L. 98-473) which fall within the jurisdiction of his House Judiciary Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties, and the Administration of Justice. Section 2 of H.R. 3541 would amend the Bail Reform Act to enable a government attorney to move for a detention hearing if no condition or combination of conditions will assure the appearance of the defendant and the safety of the community, and the offense charged is one involving the unlawful possession or transfer of firearms or explosives. Committee supported this amendment and the Conference agreed. Section 2 of H.R. 3541 would also permit a detention hearing to be reopened at any time before trial if material information exists "that was not known to the movant at the time of the [original detention] hearing". The Conference voted to support this provision as well, if amended to provide that the material information upon which the reopening is based was not only unknown to the moving party, but also could not have been obtained through the exercise of "reasonable diligence".

COMMITTEE ON THE OPERATION OF THE JURY SYSTEM

Judge T. Emmet Clarie, Chairman of the Committee on the Operation of the Jury System, presented the report of the Committee.

MODEL GRAND JURY CHARGE

The current model grand jury charge was approved by the Judicial Conference in September, 1978 (Conf. Rpt., p. 77). The Conference approved an updated and shortened model grand jury charge.

COMMITTEE TO REVIEW CIRCUIT COUNCIL CONDUCT AND DISABILITY ORDERS

The Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability Orders filed a report indicating that, since its last report, no proceedings within its jurisdiction had been filed or were pending.

COMMITTEE ON THE BICENTENNIAL OF THE CONSTITUTION

Chief Judge Howard T. Markey, Chairman of the Committee on the Bicentennial of the Constitution, presented the report of the Committee.

The Committee, which includes a representative from each circuit, held its first organizational meeting on December 18, 1985. It will serve primarily as a catalyst and coordinator of bicentennial projects locally designed, organized, managed, and funded.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON AMERICAN INNS OF COURT

The Ad Hoc Committee on American Inns of Court filed a report indicating that, to date, 15 Inns of Court have been chartered by the American Inns of Court Foundation. At its February, 1986 meeting, the Foundation Board of Trustees accepted the resignation of its Chairman, Judge Aldon J. Anderson, and also voted to commend Judge Anderson for his outstanding service to the American Inns of Court movement. Chief Judge Howard T. Markey was elected to succeed Judge Anderson as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON ELECTRONIC SOUND RECORDING

Judge Collins J. Seitz, Chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee on Electronic Sound Recording, presented the report of the Committee.

At the request of the Appropriations Committee of the United States Senate and the Ad Hoc Committee, the Administrative Office conducted a program evaluation of the electronic sound recording program. Although not all courts were included in the evaluation, by the end of 1985, 31 active and senior district judges and 49 bankruptcy judges had requested the installation of electronic sound recording equipment as the means of taking all or part of the record of proceedings in court and/or chambers.

On the basis of the Administrative Office evaluation, the Ad Hoc Committee concluded that substantial financial savings are realized when a court uses electronic sound recording, and accurate and timely transcripts are being produced. The Conference approved the report and determined that the electronic sound recording program should be employed as a permanent part of the facilities and services available to the judiciary, subject to appropriate funding, and authorized the transmittal of the report to the Congress.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Noting the death of Judge Edward Allen Tamm, the Conference adopted the following resolution:

The Judicial Conference of the United States notes with sadness the death of Judge Edward Allen Tamm on September 22, 1985. A distinguished judge of the United States District Court for 17 years and the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit for 20 years, and Chief Judge of the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals for 11 years, Judge Tamm was admired by all who knew and worked with him. In addition to his duties as an active judge serving on a busy circuit, he carried numerous difficult extrajudicial assignments requiring exceptional administrative ability. He faithfully discharged all these tasks with thoroughness and dedication.

Judge Tamm, a native of Butte, Montana, began his judicial career in 1948 when he was selected by President Truman to be a judge of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. In 1965, he was appointed by President Johnson to the United States Court of Appeals. His 37 years on the federal bench were preceded by 18 years of service in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, where he became one of its highest ranking officers. His extraordinary administrative skills were widely credited as a major factor in the high standing of the FBI during his tenure there.

In 1969, Judge Tamm was appointed by the Chief Justice of the United States to be the first Chairman of the Judicial Conference Review Committee, responsible for administering the then voluntary financial disclosure and reporting program of the federal judiciary. When Congress passed the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, requiring the filing of financial disclosure reports by all senior government officials, that Review Committee became the present Judicial Ethics Committee, under the new Act. Judge Tamm continued as its Chairman. From 1972 until 1979, he was the co-chairman of the Joint Committee of the Judicial Conference on the Code of Judicial Conduct which developed the Code of Conduct for United States Justices and Judges.

In 1972, Judge Tamm was also appointed by the Chief Justice of the United States to be the Chief Judge of the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals, a court created pursuant to the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 and consisting entirely of judges serving under assignment from other federal courts. Judge Tamm was Chief Judge of TECA for a decade and relinquished this position in late 1981 only after most of the business of the court had been completed.

Simultaneously with these three important assignments, Judge Tamm was an influential member of the Committee on Court Administration and the Advisory Committee on the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure. He served on these committees until his death. Few, if any, federal judges have carried as heavy an administrative and extra judicial burden as did Judge Tamm over a period of many years.

This brief narrative of Judge Tamm's judicial career and leadership in judicial improvement does not convey the essential character of the man as a human being. Each generation produces judges of singular leadership recognized by their contemporaries as pillars of strength and examples of integrity, discipline and dedication. Judge Tamm was one of these, but he was much more. To his friends, he was quiet, unassuming and completely modest. On the bench, while at all times a strict disciplinarian, he was consistently civil and courteous to all who appeared before him. To borrow a classical expression typical of those he took pleasure in quoting, he could be described as "suaviter in modo, fortiter in re." Few judges in the history of the federal judiciary have made comparable contributions to the administration of justice. We shall miss him greatly.

We, the members of the Conference, convey our sympathy to his widow, Grace Tamm, and their two children, Edward and Grace, and ask that this resolution be sent to them as a mark of our profound respect and high esteem.

ELECTIONS

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 621(a)(2), the Conference elected Judge Jose A. Cabranes of Connecticut to membership on the Board of the Federal Judicial Center for a term of four years to succeed Judge Warren K. Urbom, whose term expires on March 28, 1986.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 332(f), the Conference elected Judge Louis F. Oberdorfer of the District of Columbia to membership on the Board of Certification for Circuit Executives for a term of three years to succeed Judge John H. Pratt, whose term expires on July 1, 1986. The Conference also reelected Mr. John W. Macy, Jr., to membership on the Board of Certification for an additional term of three years, until July 1, 1989.

PRETERMISSION OF TERMS OF THE COURTS OF APPEALS

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 48, the Conference approved the pretermission of terms of the following United States Courts of Appeals during the calendar year 1986: the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit at Asheville, North Carolina; the Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit at Kansas City, Missouri and Omaha, Nebraska; the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit at Los Angeles, California; and the Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit at Wichita, Kansas and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER JUDICIAL CONDUCT AND DISABILITY ACT

The Chief Justice called this special telephone conference session of the Judicial Conference to consider a certificate issued on June 18, 1986, by the Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(7)(B), conveying its determination that Chief Judge Harry E. Claiborne of the United States District Court for the District of Nevada had engaged in conduct which might constitute grounds for impeachment under Article I of the United States Constitution. In advance of the conference call, the members of the Conference were provided with a draft of a certificate which the Conference could issue to the House of Representatives under 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(8), concurring in the determination of the Ninth Circuit Judicial Council that consideration of the impeachment of Judge Claiborne may be warranted.

The Chief Justice afforded each member of the Conference the opportunity to comment upon the proposed certificate. After discussion, the Conference agreed to amend the certificate to include an affirmative finding that no additional investigation of Judge Claiborne's conduct was warranted in view of his conviction under federal law and the affirmance of the conviction on appeal. As amended, the certificate provided as follows:

CERTIFICATE

TO THE SPEAKER, UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

The Judicial Conference of the United States, acting pursuant to section 331 of title 28, United States Code, does hereby certify as follows:

- 1. On June 18, 1986, the Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit certified to the Judicial Conference, as provided by 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(7)(B), that United States District Judge Harry E. Claiborne of the District of Nevada has engaged in conduct which might constitute grounds for impeachment under Article I of the United States Constitution.
- 2. The Judicial Conference, in special session by telephonic conference call, has exercised its authority under 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(8) to consider the certificate of the Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit. In so doing, the Judicial Conference had before it certified official records of judicial proceedings manifesting as follows:

On October 3, 1984, Judge Claiborne was convicted of two counts of violating section 7206(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (26 U.S.C. 7206(1)).

On May 1, 1986, Judge Claiborne's conviction became final upon receipt in the United States District Court for the District of Nevada of the mandate of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

- 3. The Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit has determined and certified to the Judicial Conference that a violation of section 7206(1) of the Internal Revenue Code might constitute one or more grounds for impeachment and that Judge Claiborne has engaged in conduct which might constitute grounds for impeachment under Article I of the Constitution.
- 4. As provided in 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(8), the Judicial Conference concurs in the determination of the Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit that a violation of section 7206(1) of the Internal Revenue Code might constitute one or more grounds for impeachment and that Judge Claiborne has engaged in conduct which might constitute grounds for impeachment under Article I of the Constitution. The Judicial Conference considers no additional investigation appropriate.
- Consideration of the impeachment of Judge Claiborne may be warranted.

There are attached to this certificate the certificate of the Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit to the Judicial Conference and certified copies of the judgment and commitment order of the United States District Court for the District of Nevada entered on October 3, 1984, the judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit on July 8, 1985, affirming the judgment of the District Court, and a certificate of Joseph F. Spaniol, Jr., Clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States, that the Supreme Court on April 21, 1986, denied the petition for writ of certiorari filed by Judge Claiborne in this matter.

Executed this 30th day of June, 1986.

The Conference voted to authorize the Chief Justice to execute the certificate and issue it to the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Nihan, Director and Deputy Director of the Federal Judicial Center, also attended the sessions of the Conference.

The Director of the Federal Judicial Center, Professor A. Leo Levin, presented a report on the activities of the Center.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES COURTS

The Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, L. Ralph Mecham, submitted to the Conference the Annual Report of the Director for the year ended June 30, 1986. The Conference authorized the Director to release the Annual Report immediately in preliminary form and to revise and supplement the final printed edition.

JUDICIAL BUSINESS OF THE COURTS

Mr. Mecham reported that during the year ended June 30, 1986, the number of cases appealed to the 12 regional courts of appeals rose three percent to 34,292, due to increases in appeals of criminal cases and private civil cases. Despite an eight percent increase in the rate of dispositions, the number of filings still outpaced terminations, resulting in a two percent increase in the pending caseload. On June 30, 1986, there were 25,276 cases pending in the courts of appeals. In contrast, the filings in the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit dropped 53 percent to 1,163 cases, primarily because of a reduction in the number of Merit Systems Protection Board appeals. Dispositions, however, increased 32 percent, resulting in a reduction of 46 percent in the pending caseload.

In the United States district courts, the number of civil filings dropped for the first time in nine years. The seven percent decrease, which resulted in 254,828 civil cases filed, was centered in cases involving the United States government, particularly in social security disability cases and recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits and defaulted student loans. The number of civil cases disposed of exceeded filings this year, resulting in a fipercent reduction in the pending caseload. On June 30, 1006, there were 242,177 civil cases pending in the district courts.

Criminal case filings, on the other hand, increased by five percent over 1985 levels, to 41,490. On the average, there were 72 new criminal cases for each district court judgeship position. Although dispositions increased in 1986, they failed to keep up with filings, with the result that the pending caseload increased for the sixth straight year. On June 30, 1986, the pending caseload stood at 24,456, almost ten percent more than the year before.

Bankruptcy petitions filed rose 31 percent in 1986 to 477,856. Business bankruptcies were up over 14 percent to 76,281 petitions; non-business bankruptcies rose 35 percent to 401,575 petitions. Terminations increased over seven percent but were below the level of new filings. On June 30, 1986, the pending bankruptcy caseload increased almost 20 percent over the previous year, to 728,577 petitions.

Mr. Mecham also reported that as of September 15, 1986, there were 13 vacancies among the 168 judgeship positions authorized for the United States courts of appeals, 36 vacancies among the 575 authorized judgeship positions in the United States district courts, and one vacancy on the United States Court of International Trade.

JUDICIAL PANEL ON MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

A written statement filed with the Conference by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation indicated that during the year ended June 30, 1986, the Panel centralized 537 civil actions pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 1407. Of that number, 351 were transferred for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings with 186 actions originally filed in the transferee districts. The Panel denied transfer of 130 actions.

Since its creation in 1968, the Panel has transferred 15,026 civil actions for centralized pretrial proceedings in carrying out its statutory responsibilities.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIAL BRANCH

Judge Frank M. Coffin, Chairman of the Committee on the Judicial Branch, presented the report of the Committee.

JUDICIAL SURVIVORS' ANNUITIES

On June 19, 1986, the President signed into law Public Law 99-336, the Judicial Improvements Act of 1985. The new law significantly reforms the judicial survivors' annuities system, essentially as recommended by the Conference in 1981 (see September 1981 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 59). For a sixmonth period commencing October 1, 1986, judges who have previously waived the right to judicial survivors' annuities may elect such coverage, and those presently participating may revoke their election of coverage, which is otherwise irrevocable. At the request of the Committee, the Administrative Office is compiling illustrative case profiles to assist judges in reaching these important decisions.

COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT OF JUDICIAL SALARIES

Section 140 of Public Law 97-92, a rider to a continuing appropriations resolution for the fiscal year 1982, prohibits implementation of judicial salary increases except as specifically authorized by act of Congress. Although the reach of section 140 appeared to be confined to the fiscal year 1982, the Comptroller General has consistently interpreted this provision as permanent law. Earlier this year, despite reaffirming his prior construction of permanency, the Comptroller General recommended that Congress repeal section 140. While Congress has not yet acted on the Comptroller General's recommendation, efforts to achieve the repeal will continue.

COMMITTEE ON COURT ADMINISTRATION

Judge Elmo B. Hunter, Chairman of the Committee on Court Administration, presented the report of the Committee.

ADDITIONAL JUDGESHIPS

The Committee reviewed the results of the 1986 biennial survey of judgeship needs conducted by the Subcommittee on Judicial Statistics and voted to recommend the creation of additional judgeships in the United States courts of appeals and in the United States district courts. Since the Congress has not as yet acted on the Conference recommendations for additional judgeships resulting from the 1984 biennial survey, the current recommendations include those previously made by the Conference.

The Conference voted to recommend the creation of additional judgeship positions in the following United States courts of appeals:

The Conference also recommended that a roving judgeship in the State of Kentucky be made a permanent judgeship for the Eastern District of Kentucky; that the two roving judgeships for the State of Arkansas be made permanent judgeships for the Eastern District of Arkansas; and that the roving judgeship for the State of Iowa be made a permanent judgeship for the Northern District of Iowa.

On several occasions, most recently in March, 1986 (Conf. Rpt., p. 17), the Judicial Conference has recommended that diversity of citizenship jurisdiction in the federal courts be abolished. Were diversity jurisdiction to be eliminated, the necessary number of new district court judgeships would be reduced from 56 to 15, resulting in a recurring appropriations expenditure avoidance of many millions of dollars. The Conference directed that, until such time as Congress eliminates diversity jurisdiction, future transmittals of Judicial Conference judgeship recommendations include detailed figures showing the impact of the elimination of diversity jurisdiction on judgeship requirements.

LIBRARIAN QUALIFICATION STANDARDS; QUALIFICATION STANDARDS FOR PROBATION AND PRETRIAL SERVICES OFFICERS

The Conference approved amendments to the Judiciary Salary Plan qualification requirements for circuit librarians, deputy circuit librarians, and assistant librarians, to include a master's degree in library or information science, or a law degree if there is law library experience (where experience is required) at the next lower level to that at which the appointment is sought. Personnel employed five years or more as of September 18, 1986, may qualify for advancement to deputy librarian and assistant librarian positions notwithstanding approval of the amendments, if their training and experience would have qualified them for advancement prior to the revisions.

The Conference also approved qualification criteria for probation and pretrial services officers.

LAW CLERKS AND THE LEAVE ACT

From 1949 to 1983, regulations promulgated on behalf of the Judicial Conference by the Director of the Administrative Office authorized each Article III judge to elect whether his or her personal staff would be covered by the leave provisions of 5 U.S.C. 6301-6323. The September 1983 Judicial Conference, noting the conclusion by the Committee on Court Administration that "all employees of the Judiciary, except judges, are entitled to both annual and sick leave benefits under the provisions of Chapter 63 of Title 5", adopted the Committee's recommendation that all new secretaries to judicial officers be placed under the Leave Act (Conf. Rpt., pp. 49-50). The Committee held for further evaluation any application of the Leave Act to law clerks.

After additional study, the Committee has determined that current practice permitting discretionary application of the Leave Act to law clerks cannot be supported under present law. The Committee was likewise persuaded, however, that mandatory coverage of law clerks under the Leave Act is inappropriate. The Committee therefore recommended that the Leave Act, 5 U.S.C. 6301, be amended to exclude law clerks, unless specifically included by the judge or by local rule of court. The Conference voted to support this legislative change.

JUDICIARY EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM

Upon the recommendation of the Committee, the Conference approved revisions to the Judiciary's Model Equal Employment Opportunity Plan (formerly "Model Affirmative Action Plan") and Discrimination Complaint Procedures. Among other things, the revisions prohibit age discrimination in the courts to the same extent prohibited in the executive branch under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; specify grounds upon which a complaint may be rejected or cancelled; set forth the relief that may be granted to complainants; and reduce the EEO reporting burden on the courts.

The Conference also amended the last sentence of its March 1980 resolution on equal employment opportunity (Conf. Rpt., p. 5) to eliminate the requirement that all equal employment opportunity annual reports be reprinted in a costly annual volume, and to change the date for submission of the Administrative Office's annual report on EEO implementation to that of the March Judicial Conference.

ADDITIONAL COURT REPORTERS

The Conference approved the addition of a combination court reporter/courtroom deputy clerk position in the Middle District of Tennessee and an additional court reporter position in the Northern District of New York, and declined to approve additional court reporter positions in the Northern District of Illinois, the Southern District of Iowa, the District of Massachusetts, and the Eastern District of New York.

COURT SECURITY

Three similar bills pending in the 99th Congress at the request of the Department of Justice (H.R. 4001, S. 2044, and Title III of S. 2376, 99th Congress) would "establish a United States Marshals Service". Among other things, the bills would repeal 28 U.S.C. 569, which provides that the United States marshals "may, in the discretion of the respective courts, be required to attend any session of court."

The Conference voted to oppose any change in 28 U.S.C. 569. It was suggested that abuses in the use of marshals should be handled through the mechanism of the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act, 28 U.S.C. 372(c), rather than by stripping judicial officers of the power to require the attendance of marshals in court.

TRAVEL REGULATIONS FOR JUSTICES AND JUDGES

The Conference reaffirmed the approval by its Executive Committee in July, 1986, of new travel regulations for justices and judges.

PLACE OF HOLDING COURT

Upon the recommendations of the Southern District of Georgia, the Judicial Council of the Eleventh Circuit, and the Committee, the Conference voted to support enactment of H.R. 3284 and 4095, bills to amend 28 U.S.C. 90(c) by changing the county makeup of the divisions within the Southern District of Georgia.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT

The Conference endorsed the position of the Director of the Administrative Office opposing coverage of the Administrative Office under the Freedom of Information Act.

UNITED STATES COURTS DESIGN GUIDE AMENDMENTS

The Conference adopted the United States Courts Design Guide in March, 1984 (Conf. Rpt., p. 8). In view of subsequent developments, e.g., the Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984 (P.L. 98-353), the Conference approved a revised Chapter 9 of the Guide ("The Bankruptcy Court"), reflecting changes in bankruptcy jurisdiction but making no changes in space allocations for bankruptcy judge chambers, courtrooms, and/or support staffs.

The Conference also approved a new Chapter 20 dealing with "Parking". The new parking policy creates categories of parking, in descending priority order. In the event the Judicial Conference were to determine that parking savings were necessary, the guidelines permit each circuit council to be given a target savings figure to meet by applying the priorities.

ARBITRATION APPEALS

H.R. 4975, 99th Congress, would amend the United States Arbitration Act (9 U.S.C. 1 et. seq) (1) to clarify the appeals doctrine in this area, which is confused and irrational; and (2) to respond to the needs of arbitration as a system of dispute resolution by generally denying immediate appeals from orders giving arbitration precedence over litigation and permitting immediate appeals from orders giving litigation precedence over arbitration. The Conference considered this a sensible approach and voted to support the legislation.

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION ACT

S. 1395 and H.R. 4342, 99th Congress, are substantively identical bills to amend the statutory provisions implementing the Convention on Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitration Awards. The Conference found the issues posed by the legislation to be matters for the Congress that would not appreciably affect the workload of the federal courts.

SOCIAL SECURITY COURT

In 1981 and 1982, the Judicial Conference approved legislation to create an Article I executive branch Social Security Court with judicial review by Article III courts. However, the Conference objected to concentrating all appeals in one court of appeals (in that case, the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit), recommending instead that appellate review be provided in the same manner as appeals from the Tax Court, i.e., to the appropriate geographic court of appeals (September 1981 Session, Conf. Rpt., pp. 67-68; September 1982 Session, Conf. Rpt., pp. 64-65).

A new proposal drafted by the Department of Justice would establish an Article I Social Security Court in the judicial branch rather than the executive branch, with discretionary review in the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. The effect of the draft bill would be to shift about 30,000 cases from federal district courts to the new judicial branch Article I court. Over 1,200 social security appeals would be concentrated in the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, nearly doubling that court's caseload.

The Judicial Conference has consistently opposed the establishment of specialized courts in the judicial branch (e.g., September 1962 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 54). Moreover, the Conference adheres to the view that the convenience of the litigants and the problems inherent in placing the entire burden of social security review on a single Article III appellate court outweigh the goal of uniformity sought by review in a single forum. The Conference therefore voted to recommend that, in the event of creation of an executive branch Article I Social Security Court, appeals should lie to the geographic courts of appeals rather than to a single court of appeals.

JUDICIAL IMPACT STATEMENTS

The Conference endorsed the proposition that any federal legislation having a potential for increasing appreciably federal judicial workloads be accompanied at the time of House or Senate consideration by an evaluation of the prospective quantitative impact on the courts.

COURT REPORTERS' TRANSCRIPT RATES

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 753(f), each court reporter may charge and collect fees for transcripts requested by the parties, at rates prescribed by the courts subject to the approval of the Judicial Conference. Effective October 1, 1986, the Conference authorized the following temporary increases in the maximum allowable transcript rates, subject to further action of the Conference following committee reports, and provided that these maximum rates will not apply to any transcripts paid for by the government, to include payments under the Criminal Justice Act, as long as "Gramm-Rudman-Hollings" (P.L. 99-177) is in effect:

Maximum Transcript Rates

	Original	First Copy to Each Party	Each Addt'l Copy to the Same Party
Ordinary
Transcript	$3.00	$.75	$.50
Expedited
Transcript	$4.00	$.75	$.50
Daily
Transcript	$5.00	$1.00	$.75
Hourly
Transcript	$6.00	$1.00	$.75

It is expected that the Ad Hoc Committee on Court Reporters of the Court Administration Subcommittee on Supporting Personnel, appointed to study the subject of court reporters, will (through the Court Administration Committee) report on the temporary rate increases at the next Judicial Conference session in March, 1987.

LITIGATION REFORM ACT

- S. 2046, 99th Congress, would curb alleged abuse in civil liability litigation. The bill would create a new chapter in title 28 of the United States Code entitled "Limitations and Procedures Regarding Civil Damages" covering, inter alia, limitations on lump sum payments, exclusion of collateral source benefits, damages for economic losses, contingency fees, and punitive damages.
- S. 2046 basically involves policy matters primarily for the Congress. However, the Conference agreed (1) to express disapproval of a provision (proposed 28 U.S.C. 2126(c)(2)) requiring payment of punitive damages awards to the United States Treasury "for the use of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts or the Federal Judicial Center"; (2) to point out that the legislation would, in effect, overrule Erie v. Tompkins, 304 U.S. 64 (1938), in cases covered by the bill; and (3) to urge Congress to assess carefully the potential impact of tort liability legislation on the workload of the federal courts.

PRODUCT LIABILITY

In September, 1985, the Conference voted to oppose section 17 of S. 100, the proposed "Product Liability Act". That section, which would have required the Conference to establish a Product Liability Review Panel to review the adequacy of existing remedies for loss or damages caused by products, would have "inappropriately interject[ed] the Conference into policy formulation and legislative recommendation in areas traditionally considered to be matters for the Congress" (September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 52).

As was the case with S. 100, the basic issues involved in a new product liability bill (S. 1999, 99th Congress) raise questions of policy better left to Congressional resolution. However, concern was raised in the Conference about two sections of this new legislation. Section 111 would create an independent Product Liability Review Board, with three members selected by the Conference and four by the National Academy of Sciences, to assess the expedited procedures and remedies provided by the Act. The Conference found that reposing in the Judicial Conference the power to appoint nearly half of the members of this Panel would still "inappropriately interject the Conference into formulation and legislative recommendation areas traditionally considered to be matters for the Congress". In addition, section 208 would permit a product liability suit to be removed from federal to state court based exclusively on a lapse of time without trial in state court. The Conference did not consider mere lapse of time to be an appropriate basis for removal, and voted to oppose this section as well.

COMMITTEE ON THE BUDGET

Chief Judge Charles Clark, Chairman of the Committee on the Budget, presented the report of the Committee.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1987

Judge Clark reported that, beginning in the fiscal year 1987, Congress has approved the consolidation of the appropriations for "Salaries of Judges", "Salaries of Supporting Personnel", "Expenses of Operation and Maintenance of the Courts", and "Space and Facilities" into a single account entitled "Salaries and Expenses". This merger should promote much greater flexibility and facilitate the transfer of funds between the various programs and activities of the courts of appeals and district courts. The appropriations for "Defender Services", "Fees of Jurors and Commissioners", and "Court Security" remain separate.

Judge Clark also reported that supplemental requirements for the fiscal year 1987 include a pay cost supplemental in the amount of $26,024,000, to fund pay increases, increases for health benefits, and a new retirement system for employees hired on or after January 1, 1984, and program supplementals in the amount of $25,445,000, as follows: $6,600,000 to fund higher travel rates, a higher

Federal Telecommunications Service (FTS) rate, and telephone acquisitions; $7,200,000 for rental of space; $4,500,000 for an additional 400 deputy clerks in the bankruptcy courts, due to a huge increase in bankruptcy filings predicted for the fiscal year 1987; and $7,145,000 for the appropriation "Defender Services". An additional program supplemental will probably be required to fund the liberalized benefits under the judicial survivors' annuities system resulting from enactment of the Judicial Improvements Act of 1985 (see pp. 52-53, supra). Additional program supplementals likely to result from passage of pending legislation include bills approved by both Houses for 52 additional bankruptcy judgeships (estimated cost $18,000,000), amendments to the Criminal Justice Act (estimated cost $10,000,000), and expansion of the drug dependent offenders provisions to include persons who are alcohol-dependent (estimated cost $3,000,000).

The Conference authorized the Director of the Administrative Office to submit to the Congress all of the foregoing supplemental appropriations requests for the fiscal year 1987, and also authorized the Director to amend the requests because of any new legislation, action taken by the Judicial Conference, or for any other reason the Director considers necessary and appropriate.

"GRAMM-RUDMAN-HOLLINGS" COST REDUCTION MEASURES

In view of limited resources available in the fiscal year 1987 resulting from Public Law 99-177, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 ("Gramm-Rudman-Hollings"), the Conference agreed to the following cost reduction measures: restricting temporary employment of secretaries, law clerks, legal assistants, and clerical personnel for judges and magistrates to emergency situations or extraordinary circumstances, except for extended absences due to illness or maternity leave; restricting overlapping appointments to those judicial officers who have only a single secretary or law clerk/legal assistant, or where the cost is offset by a vacancy during the transition period; staffing clerks' offices, probation, and pretrial services at a level not to exceed 94 percent of the established formula allowances; reevaluating the need for resident deputy clerks, or probation or pretrial services personnel, in divisional offices where the filings or workload does not justify a divisional office; restricting first-class travel to those judges who must travel first-class due to physical disabilities; restricting to two persons the staff that may accompany a judge sitting outside that judge's district or circuit, and to three persons the staff that may accompany a circuit judge sitting within the circuit; restricting the use of express mail to those items for which delivery within 24 hours is essential; and requiring circuit librarians to evaluate the proper content of chambers libraries to control lawbook acquisition expenses. The Conference voted to grant the circuit judicial councils the power to make exceptions to the reduction measures, in accordance with guidelines to be developed by the Administrative Office. The Administrative Office also was assigned the responsibility of monitoring the exceptions granted by the circuit councils and advising if budgetary ceilings are being approached.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1988

The Conference approved the budget estimates for the fiscal year 1988. The estimates, exclusive of the Supreme Court, the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, the Court of International Trade, and the Federal Judicial Center, total $1,335,280,000, an increase $160,511,000 or 14 percent above the amount allowed by the Senate Appropriations Committee for the fiscal year 1987, adjusted to reflect proposed pay cost and program supplemental appropriations requests. Provision has been made in the budget estimates for an additional 1,785 permanent positions. Approximately 48 percent of the increases in the budget are for mandatory or uncontrollable costs such as within-grade salary advancements and promotions, increases in contract rates and charges for equipment, services, and supplies, and rental increases for space occupied by the courts. The remaining increases are for workload increases. new legislation, and new program initiatives necessary to maintain the same level of support and services required by the rapidly growing workload of the judiciary.

The Conference also reaffirmed its prior policies (September 1973 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 73; March 1975 Session, Conf. Rpt., pp. 20-21; September 1985 Session, Conf. Rpt., p. 64) governing the use of firearms by probation and pretrial services officers, and directed that funding for firearms training be added to the fiscal year 1988 budget estimates.

The Director of the Administrative Office was authorized to amend the budget estimates because of new legislation, action taken by the Judicial Conference, or for any other reason the Director considers necessary and appropriate.

MISCELLANEOUS BUDGET RESOLUTION

Upon the recommendation of the Committee, the Conference directed the Administrative Office to study the possibility of the judiciary undertaking its own buildings design, leasing, construction, and maintenance.

COMMITEE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE FEDERAL MAGISTRATES SYSTEM

Judge Otto R. Skopil, Jr., Chairman of the Committee on the Administration of the Federal Magistrates System, presented the report of the Committee.

MAGISTRATE SELECTION REGULATIONS

Section 631(b)(5) of title 28 requires a merit selection panel to be appointed by the court to assist the judges in identifying and recommending the best qualified applicants to serve as United States magistrates. The implementing Conference regulations specify that "The panel shall consist of lawyers and other members of the community." (Sec. 3.02(c)).

The Committee has been of the view that the spirit of the statute and the Conference regulations is violated when federal judges and other officers and employees of the court are appointed as members of panels, except for those panels dealing with the appointments of part-time magistrates whose salaries are less than one-third of the salary of full-time magistrates. The Conference approved amendments to sections 3.02(c) and 5.01(a) of the selection regulations to make the prohibition on the service of court officers and employees on panels explicit.

LEGAL ASSISTANT POSITION IN EUGENE, OREGON

In March, 1980 (Conf. Rpt., p. 33), the Conference established the principle that "The number of legal assistant positions authorized in any district may not exceed a ratio of one assistant per full-time magistrate position." At the Committee's request, the Conference granted a one-year exception to the general rule for an additional legal assistant position for the magistrate at Eugene, Oregon, in lieu of authorizing additional magistrate resources for the district.

CHANGES IN MAGISTRATE POSITIONS

After consideration of the report of the Committee and the recommendations of the Director of the Administrative Office, the district courts, and the judicial councils of the circuits, the Conference approved the following changes in salaries and arrangements for full-time and part-time magistrate positions. Judge MacBride submitted to the Conference a report on appointments and payments under the Criminal Justice Act for the first half of the fiscal year 1986. The report indicated that $70,074,000 originally was appropriated for the fiscal year 1986 for implementation of the CJA. Of this amount, $2,657,000 was sequestered in accordance with "Gramm-Rudman-Hollings", leaving a balance of $67,417,000 available for the implementation of the CJA during the fiscal year 1986. The amount available is expected to be sufficient to meet current projected obligations, taking into account savings anticipated as the result of cost-saving initiatives approved by the Judicial Conference in March, 1986.

During the first half of the fiscal year 1986, approximately 26,000 persons were represented under the Criminal Justice Act, compared to approximately 24,000 in the first half of the fiscal year 1985, an increase of 8.3 percent. Of these 26,000 persons represented, 14,823, or 57 percent, were represented by federal public and community defender organizations. This represents a 7.2 percent increase over the 13,832 appointments received by federal defenders during the same period in the fiscal year 1985.

BUDGET REQUESTS - FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDERS

The Criminal Justice Act, as amended, requires that a budget for each federal public defender organization established pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 3006A(h)(2)(A), be approved by the Judicial Conference in accordance with 28 U.S.C. 605. The Committee reviewed 12 requests for supplemental funding for the fiscal year 1987 and reviewed requests from the 34 federal public defender organizations for funding for the fiscal year 1988. No funding has been sought for the Federal Public Defender Organization for the Southern District of Georgia, which terminated operations on May 31, 1986.

The Conference approved supplemental budget requests for the fiscal year 1987 for federal public defender organizations as follows:

GRANT REQUESTS COMMUNITY DEFENDER ORGANIZATIONS

The Criminal Justice Act authorizes community defender organizations to submit applications to the Judicial Conference for periodic sustaining grants. 18 U.S.C. 3006A(h)(2)(B). GUIDELINES

The Conference approved the following amendments to the Guidelines for the Administration of the Criminal Justice Act:

- Amendments to paragraph 3.11 and the accompanying chart, relating to agency responsibility for payment of psychiatric examinations and testimony.
- The addition of new paragraphs 2.01 F (5) and 2.22 B (3)(vi), relating to the appointment and compensation of counsel in ancillary matters.
- 3. Amendments to paragraphs 2.01 F (2) and 2.22 B (3)(iii), relating to the appointment and compensation of counsel for witnesses.

APPORTIONMENT OF TRANSCRIPT COSTS

The Conference modified its March 1980 resolution on apportionment of transcript costs (Conf. Rpt., p. 19) to clarify that the policy against routine apportionment of transcript rates applies only to accelerated transcript services. The Committee is studying whether the resolution should be further amended affirmatively to encourage the apportionment of ordinary transcript costs.

COMMITTEE ON THE OPERATION OF THE JURY SYSTEM

Judge T. Emmet Clarie, Chairman of the Committee on the Operation of the Jury System, presented the report of the Committee.

REDUCTION IN JURY EXPENDITURES

In March, 1986 (Conf. Rpt., p. 17), the Conference requested that the Jury Committee consider ways to reduce jury expenditures.

Upon the recommendation of the Committee and after careful consideration, the Conference resolved that:

 The Congress should ensure that appropriated funds are always available to fulfill the constitutionally-created right to a jury trial.

- Any attempt in the future to impose reductions in jurors' pay or allowances (e.g., parking and mileage reimbursements) will be strongly opposed.
- District courts should enact local rules or standing orders authorizing the imposition of sanctions against litigants who fail to provide timely notice of settlement.

The Conference also agreed not to seek legislation to impose a fee for filing a jury demand under Rule 38 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and not to bill the Department of Justice for the cost of space used by grand juries.

TERMS OF JURY SERVICE

District courts pursue a wide range of practices in establishing their terms of petit jury service, ranging from terms of one month or less in some courts, to as long as one to two years in others. The Conference voted to recommend that all district courts adopt a term of petit jury service of no more than two months, with shorter terms if local circumstances permit.

REVISIONS TO PETIT AND GRAND JUROR HANDBOOKS

Upon the recommendation of the Committee, the Conference approved revisions to the handbooks for petit and grand jurors.

COMMITTEE ON PACIFIC TERRITORIES

The Committee on Pacific Territories filed a report indicating that the Committee had met with representatives of American Samoa and is considering whether to recommend that certain decisions of the territory's courts be reviewable in Article III courts.

COMMITTEE TO REVIEW CIRCUIT COUNCIL CONDUCT AND DISABILITY ORDERS

The Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability Orders filed a report indicating that, since its last report, no petitions for review of judicial council orders had been submitted to the Committee.

JUDICIAL CONDUCT AND DISABILITY ACT RULES

On June 30, 1986, the Judicial Conference for the first time invoked the mechanism of 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(8) and certified to the House of Representatives that the impeachment of a judge, Judge Harry E. Claiborne of Nevada, may be warranted. This proceeding led to the suggestion that the Conference should consider prescribing rules respecting notice to judicial officials charged with misconduct or disability, as it is authorized to do by 28 U.S.C. 372(c)(11). No rules have yet been prescribed because of the paucity of experience to date with such proceedings.

The Committee is considering anew whether there is a need for Conference rules and, if appropriate, will recommend suitable rules for Conference consideration in March, 1987.

COMMITTEE ON THE BICENTENNIAL OF THE CONSTITUTION

Chief Judge Howard T. Markey, Chairman of the Committee on the Bicentennial of the Constitution, presented the report of the Committee.

Judge Markey reported that the Committee is encouraging the formation of circuit and district committees; will judge the entries in a law school essay contest conducted by the National Commission; and will assist in distributing copies of "Equal Justice Under Law" to schools.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON AMERICAN INNS OF COURT

Chief Judge Howard T. Markey, Chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee on American Inns of Court, presented the report of the Committee.

The Committee was formed by the Executive Committee of the Judicial Conference on October 17, 1983, to plan, monitor, and facilitate the American Inns of Court program. An American Inns of Court Foundation has been created and, to date, 19 Inns have been formed and 30 applications for charters of additional Inns are pending. With the Inns of Court program successfully established, the Conference discharged the Committee, effective November 5, 1986.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON SENTENCING GUIDELINES

Judge John D. Butzner, Jr., Chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee on Sentencing Guidelines, presented the report of the Committee.

The Ad Hoc Committee was created in May, 1986, to enable the Conference to react in timely fashion to the guidelines which will be adopted by the United States Sentencing Commission. Since the guidelines will require district and appellate judges to revise drastically current sentencing concepts and procedures, they are obviously of great concern to the judiciary.

Although the details of the new procedures are still under consideration by the Commission, there is no doubt that they will significantly increase the work of probation officers, district judges, and circuit judges. The Conference agreed that it would be appropriate and useful to alert Congress to that fact and to request that Congress provide the additional judicial branch resources, in personnel and funding, necessary to implement the guidelines properly.

To facilitate exchange of ideas on the guidelines, the Sentencing Commission has scheduled a series of regional hearings. The Conference authorized the chief judge of each circuit to designate a circuit judge and a district judge to participate in the nearest hearing at government expense.

Section 235 of the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 (Public Law 98-473) provides that the guidelines shall not take effect until the expiration of six months after the Sentencing Commission submits them to the Congress.

Congress may accept, modify, or recommit the guidelines to the Commission for revision, or the guidelines may become law if Congress takes no action during the six-month period. The ultimate formulation of the guidelines will therefore not be known until after the Congress acts on the Commission's proposals or until the expiration of the six-month period.

In order to afford the judiciary and the bar the opportunity to prepare for the proper implementation of the guidelines, the Conference agreed to recommend that Congress extend the effective date of the guidelines until six months after they become law.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER JUDICIAL CONDUCT AND DISABILITY ACT

The Conference reviewed a report of the Judicial Council of the Eleventh Circuit concerning Judge Alcee L. Hastings and invited Judge Hastings to submit such written response to the report as he may wish.

RESOLUTION

Noting the retirement of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the Conference adopted the following resolution:

RESOLUTION

JUDICIAL CONFERENCE OF THE UNITED STATES

WHEREAS, the Honorable Warren E. Burger, following a distinguished career as practicing lawyer, teacher of law, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, and judge of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, entered on duty as The Chief Justice of the United States on June 12, 1969; and

WHEREAS, throughout his occupation of the Office of the Chief Justice of the United States, the Honorable Warren E. Burger has preserved intact the dignity, honor, and the stature of that Office for transmission to his successor; and

WHEREAS, he has prepared and presided over thirty-four meetings of this Conference with efficiency and fairness to all; and WHEREAS, as a result of his integrity, wisdom and perseverance, many of his goals and ideals have been realized to the lasting benefit of the American people;

NOW, THEREFORE, the members of the Judicial Conference of the United States, at its meeting duly convened in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, on the 18th and 19th days of September, 1986, do hereby to record their esteem, respect, and affection for the Honorable Warren E. Burger and their appreciation of his contribution to the administration of Justice and to the Nation, and further to express their warmest and heartfelt best wishes to Chief Justice Warren E. Burger for continued achievement and dedicated service to the Nation in a long and fruitful retirement career, and further that this Resolution be recorded in the Proceedings of this Conference, and copies be forwarded to the President of the United States, the Vice President of the United States, the President Pro Tem of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

RESOLVE

This report was prepared according to the requirements of Title 28, United States Code, Section 604(a)(3). It contains a summary of the business of the federal courts and the activities of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts for the twelve-month period ended June 30, 1986. The report is organized according to the following subdivisions:

- Judicial Business
- Administrative Office Activities
- Judicial Appropriations and Expenditures
- Report of Complaints Filed and Actions Taken Under Title 28 U.S.C. Section 372(c)
- Report of Fees and Expenses Awarded Under the Equal Access to Justice Act of 1980
- Judiciary Equal Employment Opportunity Program

All references to "year" in this report apply to the twelve-month period ended June 30 of the year specified unless stated otherwise.

JUDICIAL BUSINESS

U.S. COURTS OF APPEALS

Twelve Regional Courts

During 1986, new filings increased slightly in the 12 regional courts of appeals, rising by 3 percent to 34,292 cases. As a result, tilings per authorized three-judge panel increased to 659 compared to 642 one year ago. Terminations grew a substantial 8 percent in 1986, up significantly from last year's 0.6 percent increase. During the year, a record high 33,774 appeals were disposed of, with more than half being terminated on the merits after oral argument or submission before a full panel of judges. Despite the large number of terminations, the overall pending caseload grew to 25,276 appeals on June 30, 1986. Although many courts were able to reduce the number of cases pending on their dockets for more than one year, the total increased from 4,906 in 1985 to 5,203 in 1986. This overall increase can be directly attributed to the District of Columbia Circuit, where such cases almost doubled over the past year, rising from 457 to 908 cases. Detailed appeals data for each of the regional courts are provided in Appendix Tables B through B-7. Additional summary data are provided in Supplemental Tables S-1 through S-7.

Appeals of private civil cases (including state prisoner petitions) accounted for most of the filling increase in 1986. These appeals rose by more than 1,000 cases to 17,876 fillings. Among private appeals, the non-prisoner and prisoner civil rights categories showed the biggest jumps in fillings, rising by 280 cases and 210 cases, respectively. Criminal appeals, along with original proceedings, also contributed substantially to the overall filling increase. In 1986, criminal fillings grew to the highest level ever recorded, rising by 145 cases to 5,134 appeals. The most significant decline in new fillings occurred in non-prisoner U.S. civil appeals, dropping by 7 percent to 4,846 appeals. Much of the decrease was reported in U.S. defendant appeals involving civil rights actions (down 108 cases).

Number of Cases

1985 to 18,199 dispositions in 1986. Most of the growth involved dispositions after submission without hearing, rising by 1,183 cases to 8,306 terminations. Two courts, the District of Columbia and Eleventh Circuit, contributed significantly to this rise in submissions accounting for almost half of the overall growth in 1986. See Supplemental Tables S-2 and S-3. Nearly 82 percent of participations in cases terminated on the merits were by resident active circuit judges, 10 percent by resident senior circuit judges, and 9 percent by visiting judges. These percentages varied slightly from last year with active participations increasing and visiting participations decreasing by comparable amounts. See Supplemental Table S-4.

During the year, procedural terminations increased moderately, up 3 percent to 12,727 appeals. All of this growth occurred in dispositions by court staff. These cases jumped by 653 to 7,910 appeals in 1986. Much of the increase in procedural terminations by court staff occurred in non-prisoner private civil appeals (up 393 cases) and administrative agency appeals (up 231 cases). The total number of appeals procedurally terminated by judges dropped 5 percent to 4,817 cases. Original proceedings had the most significant impact on these dispositions, dropping from 340 appeals in 1985 to only 50 appeals in 1986. This difference was caused largely by a modification to the appeals statistical reporting criteria, effective July 1, 1985, which only allows an original proceeding to be procedurally terminated if the petition was "dismissed" and the action requested was neither granted nor denied.

Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit

Fewer cases were appealed to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in 1986 than a year earlier. There were 1,163 appeals filed in 1986 compared to 2,472 in 1985. This decrease was due primarily to a reduction in the number of appeals from the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB). Prior to 1985 appeals from the MSPB never topped 524 per year, but in 1985 these appeals jumped 243 percent to 1,797 appeals due primarily to cases involving air traffic controllers. By 1986, MSPB appeals were back down to 545 cases. On the other hand appeals from the U.S. district courts rose 24 percent from 197 cases in 1985 to 244 cases in 1986.

Terminations rose 32 percent from 1,472 in 1985 to 1,939 in 1986. There were 317 appeals withdrawn and 1,622 appeals decided by the court. The court affirmed a lower court or agency decision in 86 percent of the decided cases. Decisions in MSPB cases accounted for 67 percent of the total. Because case terminations outpaced filings the pending caseload fell to 914 cases on June 30, 1986. Additional data on the workload of the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit are provided in Appendix Table G-2.

Cases Under Submission

Judges of the 13 courts of appeals and the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals reported 1,218 cases under submission over 90 days for the quarter ended June 30, 1986. This was an increase of 316 cases over the 902 cases reported for the same quarter in 1985. Cases awaiting additional memoranda, briefs, or an opinion in another case are not included in this report. Included are cases in which the proposed opinion is being circulated to panel members for comment, or a concurring or dissenting opinion is being written. The Ninth Circuit had the largest number of cases under submission with 252 cases. Nine of the courts reported an increase in the number of cases held under submission at the end of June 1986 compared to the previous year; four courts reported a decrease; and one court remained constant with the same number of cases. The largest increase was in the Federal Circuit which reported 111 cases more than in 1985. Data for each circuit are provided in Supplemental Table S-7.

STATUS OF JUDGESHIP POSITIONS

On June 30, 1986, there were 11 vacancies among the 168 judgeship positions authorized for the U.S. courts of appeals. Two of the 14 positions authorized in 1984 by P.L. 98-353 still had not been filled as of June 30. On June 30, 1986 there were an additional 41 senior court of appeals judges, who continue to provide services for the federal courts.

Beginning in 1983 positions in the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit are included.

Vacancies on the district courts numbered 40 on June 30, 1986. Nine of these vacancies were for positions authorized in 1984. In addition to the active judges on the courts on June 30, 1986, there were 156 senior district court judges who assist with the federal court caseload.

A total of 35 court of appeals and 100 district court judgeship vacancies were in positions created in October 1978.

A total of 14 court of appeals and 42 district court judgeship vacancies were in positions created in July 1984.

DISTRICT COURTS

Civil Cases

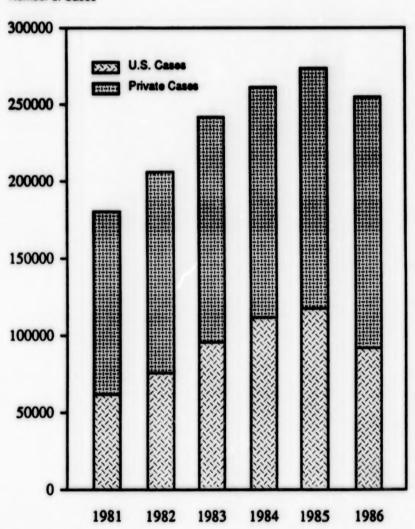

During 1986, the trend in civil litigation was broken. Civil filings declined for the first time since 1977. The number of civil filings decreased by 18,842 to 254,828 cases, or 443 per authorized judgeship. There was a slight reduction in the number of civil cases terminated, which dropped 3,083 cases from 269,848 to 266,765. Civil cases pending as of June 30, 1986 totaled 242,177, or 421 per authorized judgeship. This represents a drop of 11,937 from last year's total of 254,114 cases, and the first decline in the civil pending caseload in over 25 years. Detailed data on civil cases filed, terminated, and pending are shown in Appendix Tables C through C-6. Additional summary data are provided in Supplemental Tables S-8 through S-14

CIVIL CASES COMMENCED 1981 Through 1986

The decrease in civil filings was concentrated in the area of cases involving the U.S. government as plaintiff or defendant; private civil cases continued to rise in 1986. The major decrease was in actions by the U.S. to recover overpayments of veterans' benefits and defaulted student loans. See Supplemental Table S-9 for 1986 data by district. These actions dropped 31 percent (down 17,229 cases) from 56,372 filings in 1985 to 39,143 in 1986. As a result, U.S. plaintiff actions declined 23 percent in 1986. There was also a large decrease in cases involving Social Security Disability Insurance, which fell 30 percent from 15,403 cases in 1985 to 10,778 in 1986. As a result, U.S. defendant cases dropped over 18 percent from last year. Data for 1986 by district are provided in Supplemental Table S-10. While small increases were reported in most case types, the largest increases were in contract actions other than U.S. recovery cases (up 7 percent), employment civil rights cases (up 14 percent), prisoner civil rights cases (up 7 percent), and asbestos personal injury cases (up 29 percent).

The overall decrease in civil terminations, from 269,848 to 266,765, was primarily the result of declines in two categories: Social Security Disability Insurance (down 5,612) and recovery of veterans' benefits (down 4,074). Personal injury product liability dispositions also dropped substantially, from 7,410 to 5,388. Although there was a general decrease in civil terminations, there were significant increases in the disposition of prisoner civil rights petitions (up 1,957); habeas corpus petitions (up 1,494); and matters withdrawn from the bankruptcy court (up 1,158).

The median time from filing to disposition for all civil cases remained constant at 7 months in 1986. One case type has had a significant impact on the overall median time in recent years. The large number of recovery cases involving veterans' benefits and student loans, and the speed at which these cases move through the court system, have resulted in a two month reduction in the median time from filing to disposition. Excluding the recovery cases, the overall median time from filing to disposition of civil cases was 9 months in 1986.

The civil pending caseload declined nearly 5 percent this year. The drop in the number of pending cases from 254,114 to 242,177 was influenced by decreases in pending Social Security Disability Insurance cases (down 6,833), recovery of veterans' benefits cases (down 6,454); and recovery of defaulted student loan cases (down 2,640). The largest increase, by far, was in pending asbestos personal injury product liability cases (from 11,194 to 15,019). See Supplemental Table S-12 for additional information on pending civil cases.

TYPES OF CIVIL CASES COMMENCED 1986

TOTAL CIVIL CASES: 254,828

The number of civil cases pending three or more years rose by 7 percent this year. There were 19,252 three-year-old pending cases as of June 30, 1986, up 1,294 from last year. Three-year-old cases comprise less than 8 percent of the total pending caseload. The largest number of cases pending three years or longer is asbestos personal injury product liability cases, which rose from 3,006 to 3,858; more than one-fourth of all pending asbestos cases are three years old or more. Many of these cases have been stayed pending the outcome of bankruptcy petitions involving defendant corporations. Controversies involving diversity of citizenship and constitutional issues account for nearly 90 percent of the cases pending three years or more. Additional data on three-year-old cases are provided in Appendix Table C-6 and Supplemental Tables S-13 and S-14.

Criminal Cases

The number of cases filed in the U.S. District Courts rose from 39,500 (including transfers) last year to 41,490 cases in 1986, an increase of 5 percent. This level of filings represents a workload of 72 cases for each authorized judgeship. Criminal case terminations rose almost 6 percent to 39,328 cases. Since filings were greater than terminations the pending caseload continued a six year upward spiral. On June 30, 1986, there were 24,456 pending criminal cases, almost 10 percent more than a year ago.

The impact of large increases in prosecutions of several major criminal offenses outweighed a large reduction in prosecutions for drunk driving and other traffic related offenses in 1986. Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act cases rose 18 percent, from 6,690 to 7,894 cases in 1986. Weapons and firearms cases increased 15 percent (up 248 cases), forgery and counterfeiting cases were up 12 percent (up 253 cases) and fraud prosecutions rose more than 9 percent (up 567 cases). Filings for immigration violations also increased 13 percent this year compared to the 17 percent decrease reported last year. Drunk driving and traffic offenses fell 9 percent (down 744 cases). The 56 percent decrease in drunk driving and traffic violations in Hawaii was a significant factor contributing to a decline in overall filings for these offenses.

Criminal case terminations rose almost 6 percent to 39,333 cases with increases reported in 65 district courts. Of the 50,040 defendants prosecuted, 40,740 or 81 percent were convicted. The majority of the convictions (34,927) were by plea of guilty. Appendix Table D-4 shows dispositions of criminal defendants, by offense, for 1986. A summary of dispositions and sentences for 1985 and 1986 is provided in Supplemental Table S-15.

Over one-half (20,621) of the defendants convicted this year were sentenced to imprisonment terms for an average of 64.6 months, an increase from 60.2 months reported last year. Probation sentences for 15,230 persons convicted averaged 35.5 months, also an increase from the 35.2 months reported last year. The number of defendants given fines decreased this year to 4,232 from 4,830 last year. Appendix Table D-5 shows sentencing by offense for 1986. Data by district are provided in Appendix Table D-7.

The median time from filing to disposition for defendants in the U.S. District Courts was 3.2 months in 1986 compared to 3.0 months last year. Dispositions by jury trial had the largest median time of 5.4 months. Appendix Table D-6 provides, by district, median time intervals from filing to disposition of criminal defendants in the U.S. District Courts for 1986.

On June 30, 1986, there were 24,456 pending criminal cases with 36,314 defendants. Of the 94 district courts, 6 districts had over 1,000 cases pending. Appendix Table D provides, by district, the number of cases pending on June 30, 1986.

Over 50 percent (19,782) of the 36,314 defendants in cases pending at the end of the year were charged with DAPCA or fraud violations. DAPCA charges accounted for a large portion of the pending defendants in many districts. In Florida, Southern DAPCA violations accounted for 58 percent or 1,775 of the 3,067 defendants pending. Over one half (1,668) of the total pending defendants in Florida, Southern were fugitives. Appendix Table D-8 provides the number of pending cases by district and offense and Appendix Table D-10 provides, by district, the number of pending defendants and their status on June 30, 1986.

Of the 36,314 pending defendants, 14,145 were non-triable on June 30, 1986. Non-triable defendants that were fugitives accounted for 13,180 of these defendants up from 12,131 in 1985. Approximately 8,000 of these defendants were fugitives 25 months or more. The number of defendants that were triable totaled 16,247 while 5,272 tried defendants were still awaiting sentencing. Fugitives after trial or a guilty plea accounted for 650 defendants, an 18 percent increase from last year. See Supplemental Table S-16 for a comparison of the status of pending defendants from 1982 through 1986.

Speedy Trial

This year, 14 cases were dismissed pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 3162(a), Speedy Trial sanctions. The majority of the dismissals, as last year, were in Florida, Southern. In that district, 6 cases were dismissed without prejudice and 3 with prejudice in the second interval, from indictment to trial. Of the 14 cases dismissed, only 1 case was dismissed during the first interval, from arrest to indictment. Supplemental Table S-17 provides a comparison of cases dismissed in 1985 and 1986 pursuant to Title 18 U.S.C. Section 3162(a).

Of the 17,198 defendants for whom Interval one applied, 16,664 or 97 percent were in compliance with the 30 net day requirement from arrest to indictment while 45,243 defendants or 96 percent of the 47,192 defendants were in compliance with the 70 net day interval two requirement from indictment to trial. Appendix Table D-11 provides, by district, the number of defendants in compliance with Intervals One and Two for 1986. A summary of compliance rates for the last three years is provided in Supplemental Table S-18.

Interval Three refers to the time from conviction to sentencing and is not sanctioned under the Speedy Trial Act. However, a 45-day limit was recommended by the Committee on the Administration of the Criminal Law of the Judicial Conference. Since excludable delays do not apply to this interval, time for observation and study, presentence report preparation, and re-apprehension of fugitives prior to sentencing and bail jumping is included in this 45 day time period. This year, 24,047 defendants or 60 percent of the defendants convicted were sentenced in 45 days or less. The median time for sentencing these defendants was 22 days. There were 16,223 sentencings which exceeded the 45 day limit with a median time of 64 days from conviction to sentencing. Appendix Table D-12 provides, by district, the medium time from conviction to sentencing.

Trials

For the purposes of this report, a trial is considered to be a contested proceeding before a court or jury where evidence is introduced. The U.S. district courts completed 2 percent fewer trials during the past twelve months, dropping from 20,729 in 1985 to 20,242 in 1986. This decrease resulted from a drop in civil trials, with both non-jury and jury trials declining substantially (down 9 percent and 4 percent, respectively). Criminal trials, on the other hand, rose 8 percent during the year to 6,966. This total is the highest reported since 1978, when 7,336 criminal trials were completed in the U.S. district courts.

Although fewer trials were completed in 1986, the ratio of longer trials (those lasting four days or more) to total trials increased slightly to 24.3 percent. This ratio has been rising steadily since 1982, when longer trials comprised only 20.7 percent of the overall trials. The largest increase was reported in trials lasting 10 to 19 days, rising a sizable 15 percent to 657. Almost 80 percent of these 10 to 19 day trials involved a jury compared to only 44 percent for those lasting 9 days or less. Trials lasting 20 days or more rose slightly during the year to 176. (See Supplemental Table S-19). The majority of these were criminal trials, with the largest numbers involving offenses pertaining to fraud (29), drug law (24), and extortion, racketeering, and threats (21). Of the civil trials completed in the U.S. district courts during 1986, the median time from issue to trial was 14 months. This time interval has remained constant for the past 6 years. More detailed trials data for each district court are provided in Appendix Tables C-7 through C-10.

Cases and Motions Under Advisement

For the quarter ended June 30, 1986, U.S. district court judges reported a total of 3,036 cases and motions under advisement over 60 days. This figure is 54 percent above the number reported for the same quarter in 1985 and does not include matters awaiting additional memoranda or briefs or cases assigned to a special master. Beginning with the quarter ended September 30, 1985 district judges reported directly to their circuit executives, who in turn forwarded consolidated reports to the Administrative Office. Since that time there has been an increase in the number of judges reporting and in the number of cases and motions being reported. For this quarter 658 judges (including 140 senior judges) reported, an increase of 14 percent over the number of judges reporting for the same quarter last year. Forty-seven percent of the reporting judges had cases and motions under advisement over 60 days for an average of 10 per judge.

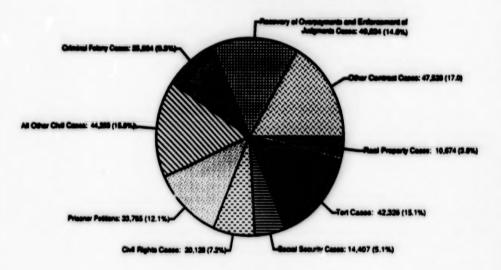

The circuits with the largest numbers of cases and motions under advisement were the Sixth, the Fifth, and the Seventh. As shown in Supplemental Table S-20, a total of 528 cases and motions had been held more than one year on June 30, 1986.

Weighted Case Filings Per Authorized Judgeship

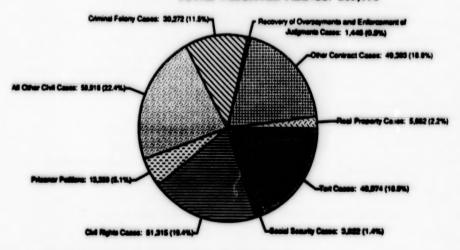

Weighted filings rose slightly this year (up 2 percent) to 461 per judgeship while raw filings dropped 6 percent to 491 per judgeship (see Supplemental Table S-21). The decline in raw filings was primarily due to a sharp drop in recovery of VA benefits and student loan cases (down 17,229). These cases, however, have a weight of 0.0326 and account for a drop of only 562 weighted filings. Weighted filings increased because the drop in recovery of overpayment cases was more than offset by rises in heavier weighted cases such as asbestos personal injury suits (up 1,274 weighted cases) and employment civil rights actions (up 2,777 weighted cases).

Appendix Tables X-1 (includes all civil and criminal cases) and X-1A (excludes misdemeanor cases) provide, by district, weighted and unweighted filings per judgeship. For a further discussion of the weighted caseload and its history in the Federal courts, see the 1980 Annual Report of the Director.

Petit Jurors

The number of jury trial days increased for the fourth straight year with a rise of over 4 percent in 1986. Civil trial days account for 54 percent of the total. As a consequence of increased trial days the number of juror days also rose, increasing from 676,140 in 1985 to 705,819 in 1986. Almost half of these juror days were needed for selection of juries. Over 30 percent of the jurors present for jury selection were selected to serve on a jury; 35 percent were challenged and the remaining 34 percent were not selected or challenged. The latter includes many jurors summoned to ensure sufficient numbers for anticipated challenges which were not exercised after all. On the average, there were 32 jurors present for each jury selection in 1986, unchanged from prior years.

Oklahoma, Eastern reported the highest percentage of jurors selected with 68 percent primarily due to its use of the multiple voir dire method of selecting jurors from small panels of prospective jurors. For example, as many as 8 juries were selected from a panel of only 59 jurors. Conversely, due to its large number of highly publicized trials, New York, Southern reported the lowest percentage of jurors selected with 19 percent. Appendix Table J-2 summarizes, by district, jury selection day activity during 1986.

Jury administrators focus most of their attention on the not selected, serving, or challenged category. As a result, 50 districts reduced their percentage of jurors in this category. Puerto Rico improved by nearly 18 percentage points due to fewer last minute jury selection cancellations. A primary factor in Puerto Rico's improvement was the imposition of a local rule assessing juror costs to parties who settle or waive a jury trial at the last minute. Six other districts improved by more than 10 percentage points. Further juror data, including estimated juror expenditures, will appear in the 1986 Grand and Petit Juror Service in the U.S. District Courts report.

Grand Jurors

Although the number of grand juries serving in 1986 increased, overall grand jury activity declined. There were 30 more grand juries serving in 1986 compared to a year earlier. The number of sessions they held, however, declined 2 percent and the number of hours in session fell over 1 percent. On the average, 20 jurors attended each session for approximately 5 hours.

The overall decline in grand jury activity is largely attributable to a 12 percent drop in the number of sessions convened in New York, Southern. This decline occurred even though the district's criminal filings remained virtually the same, indicating that the grand jury process was being used more efficiently. Despite the decline, New York, Southern again recorded the greatest amount of activity with 897 sessions convened, 17,437 jurors in session, and 3,520 hours in session. In contrast, Oklahoma, Eastern and Arkansas, Western convened only 14 grand jury sessions. Appendix Table J-1 summarizes, by district, grand jury activity during 1986.

Table 8 provides the number of cases commenced by indictment and the number of defendants proceeded against by indictment over the past five years. The average number of defendants indicted per grand jury session rose nearly 10 percent to 3.32. The six year increasing trend in indictments per grand jury session is primarily due to rises in multiple defendant prosecutions under the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act.

Three-Judge Court Hearings

Twelve districts reported 18 hearings before a three-judge district court during the year ended June 30, 1986 up from 10 hearings in 1985. Title 28 U.S.C. Section 2284 requires that a district court of three judges be designated by the chief judge of the circuit to hear cases challenging the apportionment of congressional districts or statewide legislative bodies and other actions required by statute. One is often requested for cases involving voting and other civil rights issues.

A total of 14 of the 18 hearings in 1986 were cases involving voting rights such as alleged discrimination in election procedures, and a challenge to the rights of illiterate voters to cast absentee ballots. Only one reapportionment case was reported in 1986 compared to 42 in 1982. The remaining three hearings were reported by the District of Columbia and involved the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Reduction Act of 1985. (See Supplemental Table S-22).

Passport and Naturalization

Passport applications accepted by the U.S. district courts have consistently declined since 1970. The number of applications fell 23 percent from 2,584 in 1985 to 1,996 in 1986. Eight courts processed applications in 1986 as opposed to nine in 1985 and the numbers are expected to decline further in 1987 as effective July 1, 1986 the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Louisiana will no longer process passport applications. This year, however, Louisiana, Western processed 1,296 applications or 65 percent of all passport applications processed by U.S. district courts. Depending on location, citizens may apply for passports at specially designated U.S. post offices, 13 regional passport offices and certain state and Federal (U.S. district) courts.

This year the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) has continued its priority of naturalizing as many applicants for citizenship as possible. As INS seeks to reduce its backlog of applications for U.S. citizenship a corresponding increase in naturalization petitions are being filed in the U.S. district courts. In 1986 there was a 5 percent increase in naturalization petitions filed and the number of aliens naturalized rose 7 percent.

Supplemental Table S-23 summarizes passport and naturalization statistics for selected years between 1970 and 1986. Appendix Table P-1 provides this data by district for 1986.

OTHER FEDERAL COURTS

Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals

The Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals (TECA) began operating on December 22, 1971. This court litigates all appeals from the U.S. district courts in cases arising under Section 4(e) of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1971, the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973, the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975, and the Emergency Natural Gas Act of 1977.

TECA filings continued their downward trend in 1986, dropping by 6 cases to 33 appeals. In contrast, total terminations rose 30 percent during the year to 43 dispositions. With the increased disposition activity, the pending caseload dropped to 30 appeals as of June 30, 1986, down from 40 a year ago.

Special Court - Regional Rail Reorganization

The Special Court was established by the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1983 ("Rail Act"). Under the Rail Act the court's primary role was to determine the value of properties transferred by seven principal bankrupt railroads and numerous other transferor railroads in the Northeast and Midwest region.

In August 1981, the Northeast Rail Service Act of 1981 ("NRSA") was enacted as Subtitle E of Title XI of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981. Section 1152(a) of NRSA provides additional original and exclusive jurisdiction in the Special Court. A considerable amount of litigation speedily arose. In May 1982, pursuant to Section 1152(d) of NRSA, the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation assigned three additional judges to the Special Court to handle litigation under NRSA. The court is now divided into two panels of three judges each. The General Panel continues to exercise jurisdiction found in the Rail Act, while the Section 1152 Panel exercises jurisdiction over the expanding number of cases arising under NRSA.

In proceedings arising under its original and exclusive jurisdiction the Special Court reported seven cases filed and nine terminated during 1986 leaving 27 civil actions pending as of June 30, 1986. Of the new cases filed, one was based on jurisdiction under the Rail Act, and six were based on jurisdiction under Section 1152(a) of NRSA.

Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation

The Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation acted upon 537 civil actions pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1407 during 1986. The Panel transferred 351 cases originally filed in 55 different district courts to 23 transferee districts for inclusion in coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings with 186 actions already pending in the transferee districts. The Panel denied transfer of 33 actions.

Since creation of the Panel in 1968, there have been 15,026 civil actions centralized for pretrial proceedings. As of June 30, 1986, 13,659 actions had been remanded for trial, reassigned within the transferee district, or terminated in the transferee court. At the end of this year, there were 1,367 actions pending throughout 38 transferee district courts.

Supplemental Tables S-24 and S-25 provide statistics on the number of cases transferred since the Panel was created, and the flow of cases into and out of the districts during the current year and cumulative since 1968. Information on specific cases can be obtained from the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation.

United States Claims Court

During the court year, October 1, 1985, to September 30, 1986, the Claims Court disposed of 669 complaints representing 5,177 claimants. Except for a number of these cases, in which no given amounts were claimed, the total amount claimed was $563,193,446. Of the cases disposed of, the Claims Court rendered judgments for claimants in the sum of $21,742,745 of which $4,559,385 carried interest. A number of these judgments were based on settlements between the parties. Also the Claims Court rendered judgments for the United States on counterclaims or offsets in the amount of $3,365,586. The court, under its non-monetary jurisdiction, disposed of the following cases: 2 tax exempt cases and 16 contract cases seeking injunctive or declaratory relief. Each January pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 791(c), the Clerk transmits to the Congress a report of the business of the Court showing the names of the claimants, nature of the claim, and the disposition thereof. Additional data on the work of the Court are provided in Appendix Tables G-3a and G-3b.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT APPOINTMENTS

During the year, there were 58,444 appointments of counsel under the Criminal Justice Act. A total of 31,744 persons were represented by attorneys furnished by Federal defender organizations and 26,700 were represented by private panel attorneys. These appointments represent an increase of 8 percent over the 54,100 appointments in 1985. Appointments of private panel attorneys rose 4 percent over last year and accounted for almost 46 percent of all appointments made in 1986.

Representations by Federal public and community defender organizations increased moderately in 1986 with total representations exceeding 30,000 for the first time. A rise in the number of criminal representations at the district court level was primarily responsible for the increase. Criminal representations rose almost 9 percent from 19,307 representations in 1985 to 20,975 in 1986. Assignments for other representations including appeals, probation/parole revocations and motions to correct or reduce sentence rose at a slightly lower rate to 10.769 representations. A new defender office opened in North Carolina. Eastern, and new branch offices opening in Pennsylvania, Middle and Alaska contributed to increased case openings. The community defender office in the Southern District of California reported by far the largest number of openings with 6.757, an additional 1,542 cases which accounted for 72 percent of the overall increase in openings nationwide Terminations of both criminal and other representations in 1986. increased in 1986, up 7 percent. California, Southern also disposed of a record number of cases this year with 6,807. Eight other defender offices also reported that closings outnumbered openings. Overall, new assignments outnumbered terminations, however, resulting in a 7 percent increase in the number of pending cases which rose to 8,931. Of this total, 16 percent, or 1,454 cases were pending in the Florida, Southern office.

Appendix Table K-1 provides detailed statistics on the case activity of each defender office during 1986. The statistics in this report cover only those representations provided by Federal public/community defenders and, therefore, exclude representations by private panel attorneys under the Criminal Justice Act of 1964. Those statistics are available in the Report to the United States Judicial Conference Committee to Implement the Criminal Justice Act.

BANKRUPTCY COURTS

The number of bankruptcy petitions filed in the bankruptcy courts jumped 31 percent in 1986. All of the circuits reported increased bankruptcy activity, with the courts in the Fifth Circuit reporting the largest percentage increase. The Ninth Circuit, however, had the largest numerical increase with more than 28,000 petitions over the 1985 level.

Both business and non-business bankruptcies rose in 1986. Business bankruptcies increased more than 14 percent, up 9,630 petitions from 66,651 in 1985 to 76,281 in 1986. Business bankruptcies accounted for 16 percent of the total petitions filed. Non-business bankruptcies, however, increased by more than 34 percent to a new high of 401,575 petitions.

Bankruptcy filings for each chapter under the Bankruptcy Code reached record levels in 1986. Chapter 7 petitions continued an increase started in 1985 by rising 36 percent over 1985 levels. Following the same trend Chapter 11 liquidations rose for the second year outnumbering 1985 filings by more than 14 percent. Chapter 13 petitions increased more than 22 percent to overtake the record of 102,201 petitions set in 1983.

MAGISTRATES

Misdemeanor Cases

During 1986, magistrates disposed of 92,269 misdemeanor cases, an increase of 1.7 percent from the previous year. The misdemeanor caseload included 79,971 petty offense cases and 12,298 misdemeanor cases above the level of a petty offense. The misdemeanor cases disposed of by magistrates this year resulted in 61,839 convictions and 30,430 dismissals or acquittals. A total of 13,219 misdemeanor trials were completed, including 138 jury trials.

Supplemental Table 26 shows the number of misdemeanor cases disposed of by U.S. magistrates for 1982 through 1986, classified by types of offenses. Supplemental Table 27 indicates the ten districts with the largest number of misdemeanor cases disposed of by magistrates during the twelve-month period ended June 30, 1986. Additional data on the workload of magistrates, by district, are provided in Appendix Tables M-1 through M-5.

Initial Proceedings

The number of initial proceedings in felony cases conducted by U.S. magistrates during the year increased by 9 percent, from 120,143 last year to 131,070 this year. Applications for arrest warrants, requests for summonses, and search warrant applications all increased this year. The number of initial appearances before magistrates in felony cases increased 2.2 percent from 44,379 last year to 45,385 for 1986. Magistrates reported 6,876 applications for review of bail determinations during the year and 9,444 detention hearings.

During the year, magistrates conducted 27,734 post-indictment arraignments under rule 10 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, an 11.7 percent increase over the 24,826 arraignments conducted last year. Grand juries in 85 districts returned indictments to magistrates at 4,188 separate sessions. Additional data, by district, are provided in Appendix Table M-3.

Criminal "Additional Duties"

In 85 of the 92 districts covered by the Federal Magistrates Act, magistrates handled 37,431 "additional duties" in criminal cases pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 636(b). This represents an increase of 18.7 percent over the 31,524 such duties completed last year. Magistrates conducted 3,017 criminal pretrial conferences or omnibus hearings, and reviewed 29,418 contested pretrial motions.

During the year, magistrates in 61 districts conducted a total of 1,337 evidentiary hearings in criminal cases. Magistrates also completed 4,812 other duties in criminal cases under authority of 28 U.S.C. Section 636(b). These included writs, final probation revocation hearings, calendar calls, appeals conferences, consent verification hearings in international prisoner transfers, and voir dire of prospective jurors in felony cases. Additional data, by district, are provided in Appendix Table M-4.

Civil "Additional Duties"

In 90 of the 92 districts covered by the Federal Magistrates Act, magistrates completed 161,151 "additional duties" in non-prisoner civil cases pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 636(b). This represents a slight increase from the 152,787 such duties handled last year.

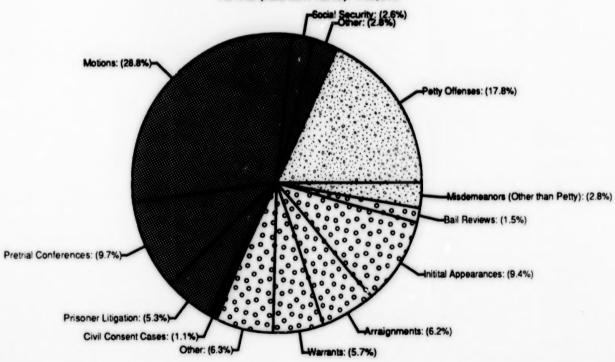

In 78 districts during the year, magistrates disposed of 4,960 civil cases with the consent of the parties pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 636(c). This represents an increase of 33.4 percent over the 3,717 cases disposed of by the magistrates last year. The consent cases included 372 jury trials, 612 non-jury trials, and 3,976 cases terminated without a trial.

Magistrates in 46 districts completed 1,079 special master references during the year, a substantial increase over the 684 such references completed in 1985. The special master references included 161 E.E.O.C. (Title VII) cases, 69 cases referred to determine damages, and 95 references to determine attorneys' fees.

Magistrates in 88 district courts conducted 40,419 pretrial conferences in civil cases assigned to the district judges, including 15,739 initial pretrials, 9,357 discovery conferences, 8,368 settlement conferences, and 6,955 final pretrial conferences. In 89 districts, magistrates reviewed a total of 99,670 contested pretrial motions in civil cases including 80,427 "non-case-dispositive" motions decided by written orders, 11,620 "non-case-dispositive" motions decided by full written opinions, and 7,623 "dispositive" matters in which they submitted findings and recommended decisions to the court under 28 U.S.C. Section 636(b)(1)(B). Magistrates in 76 districts handled a total of 11,646 Social Security appeals, which represents a decrease of 17.4 percent over the 14,101 such reports completed last year. Magistrates in 77 districts reported conducting a total of 1,238 evidentiary hearings in non-prisoner civil cases during the year. Additional data, by district, are provided in Appendix Tables M-4a and M-5.

DUTIES PERFORMED BY U.S. MAGISTRATES 1986

Prisoner Petitions

During 1986, magistrates in 86 districts submitted reports and recommendations in 23,875 prisoner cases, an 18 percent increase from the 20,235 reports submitted last year. This year's reports and recommendations included 10,027 filed after an initial review of the petition, 12,721 after a full review, and 1,127 after a full review and an evidentiary hearing. The types of petitions reviewed by magistrates included 2,499 federal habeas, 6,820 state habeas, and 14,556 civil rights petitions.

PROBATION

During 1986, the number of persons received for supervision (excluding transfers) by U.S. probation offices increased almost 7 percent to 37,583 (see Table 14). Persons removed from supervision also increased (up 5 percent) to 33,926, but was still below the number received. Consequently, the number of persons under supervision on June 30, 1986 rose from 65,999 last year to 69,656, the highest total ever reported. Detailed data concerning the probation workload are provided in Appendix Tables E-1 through E-7.

Probation sentences imposed by district judges and magistrates accounted for 65 percent of the total persons received in 1986. The number of persons received from U.S. magistrates showed the larger increase, rising 12 percent from 7,662 persons in 1985 to 8,590 persons in 1986. More than 93 percent of judge probationers received this year had supervision terms of two years or more as compared to 88 percent in 1982.

PERSONS UNDER SUPERVISION OF THE FEDERAL PROBATION SYSTEM BY TYPE OF SUPERVISION ON JUNE 30, 1986

TOTAL NUMBER OF PERSONS UNDER SUPERVISION: 69,656

The number of probationers under supervision from U.S. magistrates rose 10 percent by year's end, largely because of continuing increases in new terms begun. Probationers under supervision from district court judges rose 6 percent. This increase can be partly attributed to increases in the number of persons received in earlier years for longer terms, as well as higher totals received each year. (See Supplemental Table 28).

The number of probationers received from judges for terms of 37 months or more has increased 51 percent since 1982. The number received for terms of 1 to 12 months, however, has declined each year except for a small increase last year. Also, fewer probationers have been received from judges each year for terms of 13 to 24 months.

Excluding transfers.

Offenses of persons received on new supervision terms are detailed in Appendix Table E-5. The total received for violations of narcotics laws increased 21 percent this year to 4,823, comprising 13 percent of all persons received. The number of persons received who were involved in controlled substances offenses rose 16 percent to 1,398. Traffic offenses produced 8 percent of all persons received, increasing 23 percent to 2,984 this year.

Appendix Table E-7 contains data on the numbers of persons removed from supervision for the first time. The total completing supervision successfully this year rose to 24,504 from 23,196 last year. The overall rate of early terminations declined, however, to 17 percent from 19 percent last year. The rate of early terminations for persons under supervision from U.S. magistrates fell from 19 percent (1,222 cases) to 14 percent (979 cases) this year.

The decrease in the rate of early terminations contributed to the increase in the year-end caseload. This decrease, though, was partially offset by a rise in the number and rate of removals for violations. (See Supplemental Table 29.)

The number of removals for violations has increased each of the past three years, as has the violation rate. Within the specific types of supervision, the rate of violations by persons under special parole supervision has risen each year since 1982. The rate of new major offenses for special parolees rose from 7 percent in 1982 to 13 percent this year.

Investigative Reports

Probation officers prepared 168,063 investigative reports in 1986, up almost 8 percent over the 155,945 reports prepared in 1985. Presentence investigation reports account for over 20 percent of the total. These reports numbered 35,594 in 1986 up 9 percent from the 32,669 reports prepared in 1985. There were increases in most other types of reports with furlough and work-release reports for Bureau of Prisons institutions showing the greatest increase, up over 14 percent. The number of preliminary investigation, postsentence investigation and parole revocation hearing reports declined in 1986.

Pretrial Services

Each judicial district is required by law to have pretrial services available to assist judicial officers in making appropriate bail release or detention decisions concerning criminal defendants and to supervise and monitor conditions of release. As of June 30, 1986, 86 districts reported on PSA activities. The District of Columbia has pretrial services authorized under separate authority and is not included in this report.

In 1986, a total of 29,973 defendants were interviewed, a 10 percent increase from the previous year. More than 84 percent of the defendants were interviewed before the initial bail hearing and another 13 percent were interviewed after the initial bail hearing. Nationally, 53 percent of the total defendants interviewed this year were released at the initial hearing compared to 56 percent last year. Of the 29,973 defendants interviewed, 10,579 were imposed with PSA supervision at the initial hearing, a 12 percent increase over the 9,423 reported last year. Medium level supervision (at least one contact per week) was imposed on 62 percent of the defendants under PSA Supervision. High level supervision (two or more contacts per week) was imposed on 21 percent and low level supervision (one contact per month) was imposed on 17 percent. See Appendix Tables H-1 and H-4 for additional data.

Appendix Table H-2, excluding Rule 40 transfer cases for the first time, provides the number of PSA cases closed with data reported and the type of conditions imposed at the initial hearing. Of the total cases opened, 50 percent (or 13,779) were closed and reported this year. The number of cases closed and reported increased by 1,382 (or 11 percent) this year. Recommendations were made by a pretrial services officer to the judicial officer in 11,851 (86 percent) cases, an increase of 14 percent over last year.

This year there was a significant decrease in the number of secured bonds (i.e.; collateral, surety and percentage bonds) imposed by the courts at the initial hearing. Surety bonds showed the largest decrease (41 percent) followed by collaterals (24 percent) and percentage (15 percent) bonds. Personal recognizance and unsecured bonds were the most frequently used release conditions imposed by the courts this year (6,538) and showed an increase of 9 percent over last year. On the basis of the 13,779 closed cases PSA supervision had the largest increase in conditions imposed, (up 36 percent) followed by 3rd Party Custody (up 28 percent) and "Other" release conditions i.e.; restrictive and rehabilitative conditions (up 25 percent).

The number of defendants denied bail (Bail Not Set) at the initial hearing increased by 2,452 or 167 percent (from 1,466 to 3,918 this year). The number of defendants never released on bail increased 17 percent from 3,610 to 4,219 this year, or 31 percent of the total cases reported.

Appendix Table H-3 (Detention) has been revised to include the number of defendants detained, number of days detained, and detention costs in each of the three detention categories. This year, total detention costs increased 47 percent from $9,037,020 to $13,318,814. The "After the Initial Hearing" category represents 69 percent or $9,256,137 of the total detention cost reported. Post Adjudication Period accounted for 26 percent or $3,447,188 of the total detention costs and "Before the Initial Hearing Period" accounted for 5 percent or $615,489. Of the 13,779 cases reported this year, 5,080 defendants (37 percent) were detained before the initial bail hearing, 6,122 (44 percent) were detained after the initial bail hearing was held and 2,242 (16 percent) were detained during post adjudication.

The number of Failure to Appear (FTA's) and technical violations rose 6.7 percent over last year while felony and misdemeanor violations fell 6.8 percent this year creating a minimal change in total percentage of defendants committing violations. See Appendix Table H-5 (Bail Violations) for additional data.

Drug Aftercare Program

Since October 1, 1979, the Drug Aftercare Program has served an increasing number of drug dependent Federal offenders under the supervision of the U.S. Probation System. As of March 31, 1986, a total of 6,812 clients were receiving drug treatment services. Table 18 reflects the growth in the number of drug aftercare clients during the past five years.

As of March 31, 1986.

A study of the data collected on 3,991 individuals discharged from drug aftercare treatment between April 1984 and January 1986 shows that these individuals were not convicted of only drug related crimes but of a broad spectrum of offenses. Only 43 percent were convicted of drug distribution and possession. An additional 18 percent were convicted of assault and weapons violations and the remaining 39 percent were convicted of property crimes, vice, immigration and other offenses.

Seventeen percent of the offenders in the study had one criminal conviction prior to treatment and 40 percent had two or more prior convictions. The onset of drug abuse among the 3,991 discharged clients occurred 11 years, on the average, prior to entry in the drug aftercare program. Sixty percent had a history of heroin abuse; 50 percent had been in drug treatment programs on one or more previous occasions.

Slightly more than 50 percent of the persons in this study completed their treatment satisfactorily. Another 40 percent were removed from treatment and their supervision revoked because of continued drug abuse or because of technical violations such as failure to report. Treatment for only 8 percent was terminated because of new arrests.

The data collected on this sample of drug aftercare defendants indicates that the program serves an experienced criminal population with a lengthy history of drug abuse. In light of the characteristics of this population, these data reflect that the drug aftercare program has been effective in treating the drug aftercare population, detecting continued drug abuse, and prompting quick intervention by the court or Parole Commission.

PERSONNEL

The total number of individuals on the payroll of the Federal Judiciary (exclusive of the Supreme Court) was 18,277 on June 30, 1986. This was more than 4 percent above the number on June 30, 1985. The number of active judges increased by nearly 7 percent over last year as new positions created in 1984 were filled. The increase in judges brought an increase in the number of secretaries to active judges and the number of law clerks. The level of staffing in these areas increased by 8 and 10 percent respectively. As the bankruptcy workload continued its rise, the number of deputy clerks serving bankruptcy courts also increased this year by the last two years.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE ACTIVITIES

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES

Space and Facilities

During the year the Space and Facilities Branch of the Administrative Office began a study to identify causes of excessive delays and costs related to the acquisition and management of space and facilities, and to develop ways to expedite new construction, alterations and lease actions in a cost-effective manner. The Branch has completed its study and prepared a draft report which has been coordinated throughout the Administrative Office. The draft report is being reviewed by the Judicial Councils and Circuit Executives. The Administrative Office will complete the coordination of the review of the draft study for consideration by the Judicial Conference. Subcommittee on Judicial Improvements at its meeting in December 1986.

The Space and Facilities Branch has also initiated a plan to establish automated systems for management of space acquisition actions and the management of repairs and alterations projects. This will require the establishment of a space and facilities data base containing comprehensive information on all facilities of the Judiciary with significant input from the courts. The Branch plans to identify data on all pending space acquisition actions and all repairs and alterations projects. This project will include coordination with GSA on the identification of standard procedures and timeframes for actions where GSA has project responsibility.

The Branch is also involved in the development of automated systems to manage the budgetary and financial aspects of space and facilities. The system will include development of proposed budgets for rent, based on projections of the amount of additional space to be added to the space inventory of the Judiciary. The system will also include management of space acquisition actions and repair and alteration projects, consistent with approved budgets, which may require a method of establishing priorities for each project.

Guide to Judiciary Policies and Procedures

The Administrative Office has developed a new distribution list for all material issued for the Guide to Judiciary Policies and Procedures. The new distribution, which will be based on actual need, will reduce the printing and distribution of Guide materials. An index of Guide materials will be developed and distributed periodically so that offices not receiving certain material may keep an accurate record of all transmittal numbers and subjects. A proposal is also under development to reissue the Guide in 8-1/2 X 11 size, thus reducing the overall number of pages and allowing the replacement of the current, expensive binders with those available at low cost from GSA.

Contracting

Over the last year, the Contracting Section of the Administrative Office processed 652 contractual records, including 212 contracts for drug aftercare services which were reviewed and extended from 1985. Currently, there are 281 drug aftercare contracts, 225 contracts for court reporting services, and 14 contracts for furniture and furnishings.

In addition to the continuing contractual arrangements listed above, the Contracting Section has been involved in contracts awarded for court services and services to the Administrative Office as follows: automated jury wheel services, central accounting system for the Administrative Office, office automation projects for the courts, purchase of computers for the courts, Spanish/English interpreter examination, court reporters study, Supreme Court integrated library system and long range office automation study and communications plan for the Judiciary.

AUTOMATIC DATA PROCESSING

The Administrative Office has been engaged in a major effort over the last few years to provide automated support to the courts. A part of this effort involves the conversion of central systems operating on large computers in Washington, to systems which will run on court located computers. The effort also entails the development of new systems to provide the courts support in the jury, financial, administrative, and case management areas. Over the last year, the Administrative Office has been involved in the acquisition and installation of hardware, the conversion of some systems from central computers, and development of new systems.

ADP Equipment

During the year, personnel from the Systems Services Division installed 23 new Motorola/Four-Phase computer systems in the courts. In addition, a new contract for UNIX-based computers to support the needs of the larger courts was awarded to Sperry, Inc. on March 31, 1986. Sperry will supply computer hardware, software, equipment maintenance and training to the courts for the next five years. The procurement project was a joint effort of personnel from the Administrative Office and the Federal Judicial Center.

Plans are being finalized for installation of the new Sperry computers in courts after final testing and software transfers are completed. These systems have much more capacity and are capable of handling a larger number of terminals than the smaller Motorola/Four-Phase systems now in the courts, and will require more precise site planning and effort to install. Present plans call for approximately 40 systems to be installed during the next year. The software currently operating on the Four-Phase computers will also be installed on the new Sperry computers.

Consistent with the recommendations of the Judicial Conference's Judicial Improvements Subcommittee, the primary objectives during the coming year will be to concentrate on those activities which will permit the replacement of systems operating on the central Courtran DEC-10 computers in Washington at the earliest possible date. This includes not only those systems which directly support the courts, but also those applications which operate in support of some of the Administrative Office and Federal Judicial Center offices. Five of the eight courts operating the consolidated Central Violations Bureau system are already off the DEC-10 computers and are using the UNIX-based Four-Phase Systems. The other three are entering dispositions for existing cases onto the new computers and plan on being off the DEC-10's by the end of September 1986.

Court Systems

Courts of Appeals

The New Appellate Information Management System (New AIMS), designed to provide automated support to the courts of appeals, was transferred from the Federal Judicial Center to the Administrative Office on July 1, 1986. Implementation of the system in the Sixth and Seventh Circuits will commence immediately. The system will be installed in the Second Circuit shortly thereafter in order to off-load the DEC computers as soon as practical.

District Courts

The Administrative Systems (also applicable to courts of appeals), which consist of Property Inventory, Attorney Admissions, Court Reporter and Personnel Management, were installed on UNIX computers in seventeen court locations during the past year. The Financial Management System was installed in six courts, bringing the total to nine courts that are using the system. This system will be enhanced to include the automated reporting of data from the courts to the Administrative Office and an archive feature. Fifteen additional courts are scheduled for software installation and training during the next year.

The STARS/Index Replacement System (SIRS) was designed to replace the Courtran STARS and Index systems, as well as the Xerox 820 Case Information System. The Eastern District of Wisconsin, the Southern District of Illinois, the Western District of Louisiana and the Western District of Texas selved as pilot courts for the system. In the coming year, SIRS will be expanded into twenty additional courts. As in other automation activities, courts which are presently using Courtran will be the first to receive the new software.

A replacement system for Criminal Courtran will be started in late 1986. This replacement system is a full docketing system and will be modeled closely after the new CIVIL system presently under development by the Federal Judicial Center so that the maintenance and future implementations of the two systems can be simplified.

The automated Phase I Jury System was installed in 16 additional district courts over the past year, bringing the total number of courts operating on the system to 21. The system tracks juror attendance and utilization, produces sub-vouchers, prints checks, and provides supporting reports for court use. Additional features developed during the past year include court preparation of the OCR Check Transmittals to comply with new Department of Treasury reporting requirements. In addition, programs were developed to provide direct transfer of juror data from contract data centers to the court located computer. Phase II development of the system will be completed early next year. The system will provide capabilities to assist courts in forming and using juror panels. Courts will also have the option of generating juror summonses and juror form letters from within the court.

The first phase of the test project to determine the feasibility of using electronic scanning equipment to read juror qualification forms was completed this year. A controlled test was conducted in three districts using a sample of 2,000 jurors in each location. Since the results of that test were favorable, a test of the second phase of the system has been scheduled for the late summer of 1986. This test will help identify any significant benefits which may accrue in a operational environment. A new machine readable juror qualification questionnaire will be used in testing the system in the Districts of New Jersey, New Mexico, and the Western District of Texas. A cost and benefits study will be prepared early next year documenting the results of the test.

Bankruptcy Courts

The Bankruptcy Automated Noticing System (BANS) is operational in 44 separate divisional offices in 16 districts. BANS provides for notices to creditors, maintains claims and creditor registers, prints the first page of the docket sheet, and automatically submits statistics to the Statistical Analysis and Reports Division (SARD) on filings, and generates other case management reports. Major features of new software include an on-line debtor case database and the addition of closed case statistical reporting. Noticing volume for all BANS courts is approximately 12 million per year. Presorting of notices by zip code is planned for implementation before the end of the fiscal year. This will result in greater postage savings.

During the past year, most BANS courts added personal computers to their systems. User committees are developing local software for these computers to perform functions such as calendaring, personnel, inventory, adversary docketing and statistical reporting. Programs will also be developed to accept creditor schedules on diskettes provided by attorneys.

Use of Personal Computers

During the year, the Administrative Office provided 318 personal computers (PC) to circuit, district, and bankruptcy clerks. These personal computers provide immediate relief to the clerks' offices for the local development of applications in areas that are amenable to office automation.

The most extensively used court developed PC system is the Eleventh Circuit-developed Bankruptcy Users Microcomputer System. This system provides case opening docket information, notices, claims information, index cards, orders, calendars, and case management reports. It also includes a statistical reporting function which transmits records to SARD via telephone lines. A personal computer, compatible with most of the units in the courts, was acquired for SARD so that communications links between the courts and the Administrative Office mainframe computer could be established. This process eliminates the need for court personnel to prepare statistical reports manually and the need for SARD personnel to enter data that has already been captured in the court. At the close of the year, data were being transmitted electronically by 17 districts. This system of reporting will be expanded to include all 47 bankruptcy courts currently operating with the Eleventh Circuit system.

Other applications developed by the courts for use on the personal computers include a personnel system, inventory, district court case management, attorney rolls, judicial conferences, and an applications development system designed to stimulate other courts to perform local development. Courts have also developed a limited docketing system and a jury management system both of which are available to all courts.

Personnel of the Administrative Office have worked closely with the High Technology Subcommittee of the Federal Defenders Advisory Committee to develop an overall automation system for defender offices. The system would include the use of data bases for fiscal and statistical controls and reporting, case management and litigation support. Plans also include the establishment and maintenance of motion and brief banks, electronic spreadsheeting to simplify the budget preparation and oversight process, and possibly electronic communications to enable more effective interaction between main and branch offices.

OFFICE AUTOMATION

Office Systems

The Administrative Office has contracted with American Management Systems, Inc. (AMS), through the auspices of GSA's Contract Services Program, for assistance in the development of a long-range office automation project. The objective of the project is to develop a program which will be cost-effective and to install standardized, integrated office automation equipment in the courts. The Office Systems Branch of the Systems Services Division managed the performance of a feasibility study and requirements analysis over the last year in support of the long-range office automation project. This study was conducted by AMS between October 1985 and January 1986 at the Administrative Office and in 20 court locations. The Administrative Office has begun development of a Request for Proposals (RFP) to be used to acquire office automation equipment which meets the requirements identified in the feasibility study. During the coming year, the Administrative Office will conduct a competitive procurement for the office automation program.

Over the last year, the Administrative Office has assisted in providing integrated office automation systems in two courts of appeals. For the Fourth Circuit, a request for proposal for procurement of a system has been developed. The system will provide all judges in the Fourth Circuit with electronic mail communications, electronic filing, and word processing. The award of the contract and installation of the system will take place in the next few months. For the Third Circuit, the Administrative Office installed an integrated office automation system to provide electronic mail communications, electronic filing, and word processing to all judges. This system replaces an obsolete electronic mail system previously operating via the DEC 10.

Work Measurement

During the year, a work measurement study was conducted in the Bankruptcy Clerks' offices to develop staffing guides that focus on the effects of the Bankruptcy Automated Noticing System (BANS) and other commercial automated noticing and claims processing services. The study identified an overall staff savings of 34 positions in the 16 BANS courts based on 1985 workload data.

In the coming year, work measurement studies will be conducted in the probation offices of the Northern District of Ohio, the Eastern District of Michigan, and the District of Connecticut as the final phase of the feasibility study/cost benefit analysis of the Probation Information Management System. There will also be efforts to conduct work measurement staffing study updates of the United States District Clerk's Office with consideration of the effects of automation in the daily operations.

COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS

Data Communications

The Administrative Office has contracted with American Management Systems, Inc. (AMS) for the development of a five-year plan for communications in the U.S. courts. The objective of the five year plan is to develop a long range strategy for the standardization of telecommunications within the Federal Judiciary. During the next year, the Administrative Office will begin implementation of the plan.

The Administrative Office is also working to develop a short range formal written plan that describes the most cost effective, technically efficient means of moving data traffic among data terminals in the divisional offices, host computers at court headquarters, and the computers at the Administrative Office.

Telephone Services

During the year, the Administrative Office began the implementation of the nation-wide Telephone Services Program aimed at converting all of the Judiciary's telephone equipment leased under the Continuity of Services Contract to telephone equipment obtained under GSA's Purchase of Telephone and Services (POTS) contracts. This is a 15-month program affecting the conversion of approximately 11,500 telephone sets nationwide. In the last twelve months, new telephone equipment has been purchased for 99 court locations throughout the Federal Judiciary. This program must be completed by December 31, 1986, at the latest.

The Administrative Office has also conducted a series of 10 meetings between senior officials from the Administrative Office and the 10 GSA regional administrators and their associated telecommunications managers for the purpose of securing GSA's support for the Judiciary's Telephone Services Program. This program relies heavily on the use of GSA's POTS contractor as a major support element of the Judiciary's program.

To assist with implementation of the program the position of Telecommunications Coordinator was introduced to the Federal Judiciary. Coordinators were officially appointed in each Circuit Executive's office to coordinate and manage the implementation of the Telephone Services Program throughout all courts in the circuit. A series of 5 Telecommunications Coordinators Orientation Seminars were conducted in which senior representatives from the Circuit Executive's offices met with staff from the Administrative Office and the 10 GSA regional offices for the purpose of beginning the nationwide implementation of the Telephone Services Program.

STATISTICAL SYSTEMS

Courts of Appeals

In response to the request of the Conference of Chief Judges, the Statistical Analysis and Reports Division continues to conduct statistical reviews in the Courts of Appeals on a regular basis. The purpose of these reviews is to verify the courts' compliance with the statistical reporting guidelines and to ensure that the data being collected and published by the Administrative Office is accurate and comparable among the various courts of appeals. During the year, reviews were conducted in the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia and the Third, Seventh and Eleventh Circuits. Future reviews will be conducted on a quarterly basis.

Federal Probation Sentencing and Supervision Information System

The Federal Probation Sentencing and Supervision Information System (FPSSIS) began generating caseload management reports for probation offices on September 30, 1985. These reports show the status of the caseload as of the completion of the previous month and provide a tool for managing individual caseloads and the work of the probation office generally. In the near future FPSSIS data will be used to generate sentences imposed tables to assist judges in sentencing convicted defendants.

AUDITS AND REFERRALS

In January 1986, the Office of Audit and Review initiated a major internal and functional audit of the Judiciary budget process in response to a congressional request. The purpose of such audits is to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of administrative services provided to the court. By focusing on functional areas of administration in addition to execution of administration on a court-by-court basis, the Office of Audit and review will be able to recommend systemic improvement to benefit all the courts.

The mission of the Office of Audit and Review was recently expanded to assist judges in addressing complaints or allegations against the Judiciary, other than complaints against judicial officers brought under 28 U.S.C. Section 372(c), unless the presiding officer of a judicial council specifically requests such an investigation. This function permits the Federal Judiciary to handle complaints or allegations internally, but does not preclude a request for assistance from or referral to law enforcement agencies on behalf of the judges.

Over the past three years, the Office has shifted the emphasis of its efforts from cyclical audits to audits requested by judges and other court officials. The following table shows the number of court requested audits and referrals along with the number of cyclical audits performed during 1984, 1985, and 1986.

Audits Performed 1984 - 1986

	Audits/Referrals ¹
Year	Cyclical
1984	63	9
1985	81	37
1986	61	44

¹The Office of Audit and Review began accepting referrals in July 1984. However, the referral function was not staffed as a separate operation until January 1986. Since January, one individual has been assigned to the accumulated requests. Between the end of January and the end of June 1986, eleven additional referrals have been received representing a rapid increase in the rate of requests.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT

Impact of the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 (CCCA) doubled the hourly rates and case compensation maximums for attorneys appointed under the Criminal Justice Act (CJA). The Insanity Defense Reform Act of 1984, which was also part of the CCCA, included a number of new proceedings relating to mental conditions in criminal matters. The CCCA amended the CJA to provide for court-appointed representation at these proceedings. The CJA Division of the Administrative Office drafted several proposed revisions to the CJA Guidelines to reflect the payment responsibility for the mental condition examinations. The revisions were approved by the CJA Committee and will be presented to the Judicial Conference for its approval. The Division also continued its review of circuit and district court CJA plans to ensure that they reflect all of the changes brought about by the CCCA.

The CCCA also has had an impact on the caseload of federal defender organizations. Federal defenders have been assigned to provide representation in an increasing number of complex RICO, Continuing Criminal Enterprise and white collar crime cases. Federal defenders also have been assigned to cases where the defendant, who otherwise would have been able to retain counsel, was unable to do so by virtue of restraining orders which prevented him from using his assets to obtain counsel.

Legislation to Revise the CJA

The doubling of the hourly rates and case compensation maximums provided only partial relief to the problems encountered in obtaining qualified counsel to provide representation under the CJA. The CCCA amendments to the CJA failed to address a number of other important issues. Consequently, enactment of the more comprehensive revisions contained in H.R. 3004 and S. 1581, the Judicial Conference supported CJA revision bills, remained a critical goal of the CJA Division during the past year. H.R. 3004 passed the House of Representatives on December 9, 1985. S. 1581 was reported, with amendments, out of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution on June 17, 1986, and is pending before the full committee.

Three further amendments drafted by the CJA Division are incorporated in S. 1581. The first two, which were approved by the CJA Committee and the Judicial Conference, would establish a holdover provision for federal public defenders whose terms have expired and authorize the delegation of a chief judge's authority to approve excess compensation claims. The third amendment, which is technical in nature, clarifies the effective date of the changes in the compensation structure of the proposed legislation.

MAGISTRATES

The Division of Magistrates continued to administer and monitor the magistrate merit selection and appointment process to ensure compliance with the procedures mandated by the Federal Magistrate Act of 1979 and the regulations promulgated by the Judicial Conference. During the year, 46 full-time magistrates were appointed, including 8 re-appointments. Of the 38 new appointments, 19 were for newly created positions. During the same period, 35 individuals were appointed to part-time magistrate positions, including 16 re-appointments.

Among the new appointments made during the year, the average age of the full-time appointees was 41, and that of the part-time magistrates was 44. New full-time magistrates had been members of the bar for an average of 14 years; part-time magistrates averaged 17 years of bar membership. Of the new full-time magistrates, 7 previously served as assistant U.S. attorneys, 5 were attorneys with the federal government, 1 had been a law professor, and 1 served as an attorney with The Legal Aid Society of New York.

The Judicial Conference authorized creation of 8 additional full-time positions during the year (which are awaiting funding), expanding the number of full-time positions from 272 to 280. The Conference reduced the number of part-time positions from 183 to 177 and the number of combination clerk of court/magistrate positions from 12 to 10. Table 20 provides a summary of the number of magistrate positions authorized by the Judicial Conference since 1971.

CENTRAL VIOLATIONS BUREAUS

The Administrative Office is conducting a review of Central Violation Bureau (CVB) operations with a view towards making additional improvements in the system. In accordance with the recommendations of a recent GAO report entitled "The Judiciary: Stronger Financial Internal Controls Needed over Court Resources," the Administrative Office is exploring the feasibility of the use of lockboxes to process forfeitures of collateral. Guidelines are also being developed to improve internal financial controls at the automated CVB's.

Over 95 percent of the violation notices issued for petty offenses and other misdemeanors are processed at one of the eight automated CVB's. The feasibility of further consolidation in the number of processing sites is being pursued. Each of the eight automated sites has now received Four Phase computer equipment and software for the CVB application.

The Clerks Division of the Administrative Office analyzed the number of violation notices being processed per deputy clerk in the automated courts and determined that efficiencies had been achieved since the work measurement formula had been developed. The staffing additive for all districts was changed to reflect the average number of violation notices being processed by the deputies in the automated districts. There are still 12 courts which process violation notices manually.

A revised standard violation notice form is in the final stages of development for printing by the various law enforcement agencies and use by the courts. The development of a videotape to be used to train new officers for the issuing agencies has been delayed pending completion of the standardized form. The videotape will be produced by the Federal Judicial Center.

BANKRUPTCY

Status of Bankruptcy Judge Appointments

The Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984 authorized the courts of appeals to appoint a total of 232 bankruptcy judges to fourteen-year terms of office. The Act extended the term of office of bankruptcy judges serving on July 10, 1984 (the date of enactment) until October 1, 1986 or four years after the judge was last appointed to office whichever is last. As of June 30, 1986, a total of 103 fourteen-year appointments had been made by the courts of appeals.

Official Duty Stations and Places of Holding Court

The Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984 also re-enacted the authority of the Judicial Conference of the United States to determine the official duty stations and places of holding court for bankruptcy judges in each district. The Director of the Administrative Office is to submit recommendations on the locations to the Judicial Conference after consulting with the judicial councils of the circuits.

Official duty stations are those locations at which bankruptcy judges maintain their chambers and are the basis for such administrative determinations as calculation of travel expenses. Additional places of holding court are generally limited to locations where it is anticipated the bankruptcy judge will preside over bankruptcy matters on a regular basis. Failure to include a location as an official duty station or place of holding court does not preclude the bankruptcy judges from occasionally conducting proceedings at other locations within the district as need dictates.

Following the enactment of the 1984 amendments, the Director solicited the views of all chief district court judges and circuit judicial councils to determine whether present arrangements for official duty stations and places of holding court should be continued or modified. Based on the responses received, and in light of budgetary considerations, the Bankruptcy Committee of the Judicial Conference drafted proposed standards to be applied for establishing or maintaining places of holding court. These standards consider total bankruptcy petitions filed, the percentage of business filings, surface and air travel time, and mileage from official duty stations and other places of holding court.

Other factors such as the availability of appropriate court facilities and the cost of facilities to the government were to be considered in addition to the standards.

Based on the proposed standards, a second survey of chief district court judges and bankruptcy judges was conducted by the Director in coordination with the circuit judicial councils. At its June 1986 meeting, the Bankruptcy Committee adopted final standards and considered the application of these standards to the recommendations of the Director and those received from the courts. Final recommendations of the Director and the Bankruptcy Committee will reduce the current number of authorized places of holding court by 71, without adversely affecting bankruptcy services throughout the country. These recommendations will be forwarded to the Judicial Conference for consideration at the September 1986 meeting.

Trustee Oversight

The Bankruptcy Division has reviewed the operation of the entire panel trustee system, from appointment to removal. During 1986, the Division received 871 applications for appointment to panels, an average of 73 per month. A total of 123 trustees were appointed to panels, most of them replacing trustees who had resigned. As of June 30, the Division had 4,693 applications on file with a total of 1,307 trustees serving on panels.

A survey was conducted to determine the sufficiency of the trustee selection and removal systems as they are actually being implemented by the bankruptcy courts. Based on the results of the survey, the Director's regulations for chapter 7 trustee panels have been revised and circulated for comments. As part of this process, application forms have also been revised and will be ready for use later this year.

Primary responsibility for daily oversight of chapter 7 trustees rests with the deputy clerks for estate administration. A manual for estate administrators has been drafted and circulated for comment. The manual, which also includes material on chapter 11 and chapter 13 case oversight, will be ready for distribution in the fall.

Forms Revision

A special task force on bankruptcy forms comprised of bankruptcy judges and clerks has been working to review each form presently used in the bankruptcy court system. The task force has completed its review of 20 statistical forms, revising 13 forms and recommending the cancellation of 5. Two forms have been referred to the Bankruptcy Division for further review of the need for continuing the forms. The task force has created one new statistical form. The revised forms will be ready for use by January 1, 1987.

The task force has also reviewed the 46 official bankruptcy forms, and will recommend the revision of 19, the consolidation of 7 and the cancellation of 3 forms. Two new official forms have been created. The task force is completing its final review of the revised forms, and will submit its report by the end of the summer.

The task force has reviewed 78 other bankruptcy forms used by the courts for processing orders or procedural matters. The task force revised 51 of these forms, and is recommending that 23 forms be canceled and 4 forms consolidated. Six new forms have been created. Final review of these forms will be completed by the fall of 1986 and then forms will be sent to several courts for a trial period.

Chapter 13 Administration

As part of a comprehensive review of estate administration and trustee supervision, the Bankruptcy Division identified specific areas of concern that some bankruptcy judges, clerks, and deputy clerks for estate administration had with existing Judicial Conference guidelines for chapter 13 administration. At the direction of the Judicial Conference Committee on the Administration of the Bankruptcy System, the Division undertook a complete review of the existing guidelines to address the areas of concern identified, and to prepare appropriate revisions in the guidelines for consideration by the Committee. The Committee Chairman also designated an ad hoc committee to work with the staff of the Division in reviewing the existing guidelines.

At its January 1986 meeting, the Committee unanimously approved the revisions suggested and in addition, approved a resolution recommending that the revisions be adopted by the Judicial Conference. At its March 1986 meeting, the Judicial Conference approved the revised guidelines for chapter 13 administration. The Director, on March 31, 1986, formally issued the revised guidelines promulgated by the Judicial Conference.

Bankruptcy Support Services

In May 1985, the Clerks Division took over responsibility for allocating deputy bankruptcy clerk positions and providing advice of an administrative nature to bankruptcy clerks. An integral part of this responsibility is providing daily liaison services to the bankruptcy clerks, which in part includes researching a variety of administrative and management issues. In order for the Clerks Division to become more knowledgeable about bankruptcy issues and procedures, the staff has worked closely with the Bankruptcy Division and initiated orientation visits to a number of bankruptcy courts. Working closely with the Office Systems Branch of the Systems Services Division, the Clerks Division refined and implemented the new work measurement formula for bankruptcy clerks' offices and established a library of locally developed procedural manuals.

COORDINATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES

U.S. Sentencing Commission

In response to U.S. Sentencing Commission requests, several Administrative Office divisions and offices have provided data and commentary to assist in developing sentencing guidelines. Probation Division staff and U.S. probation officers have provided data and testimony on a number of issues including offense severity ratings, the prior record as a component of offender characteristics, and on sentencing options in addition to incarceration. The Statistical Analysis and Reports Division has provided sentencing statistics generated by the Federal Probation Sentencing and Supervision Information database. Additional assistance has been provided by the Criminal Justice Act Division which has coordinated with the Federal public defenders to provide position papers and testimony, and the Financial Management Division which has provided administrative and budgetary support.

The Sentencing Commission plans to publish draft sentencing guidelines in September 1986 and conduct public hearings on those guidelines thereafter. The Administrative Office will continue to provide any additional assistance which the Commission may require at that time.

General Accounting Office

In 1986, the Office of Audit and Review assumed the role of agency liaison with the General Accounting Office (GAO). This involves facilitating GAO's access to the courts when a study is planned; monitoring the progress of the study; coordinating the comments of Administrative Office divisions and preparing the Director's response to GAO's draft report; and preparing the Director's report to Congress in response to GAO's published reports, as required by 31 U.S.C. Section 720(b). The Office of Audit and Review also ensures that GAO's recommendations are assigned to appropriate Administrative Office divisions and monitored for completion of agreed agency actions. In addition, this office monitors the referral of appropriate issues to the Judicial Conference. Centralized processing of GAO matters in the Office of Audit and Review is intended to enhance communications among GAO, the Judiciary and Congress and to increase the responsiveness of the Judiciary to GAO reports.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Bankruptcy and District Clerks Advisory Committees and Procurement Deskbook

This year for the first time, the Bankruptcy Clerks Advisory Committee met jointly with the District Clerks Advisory Committee, resulting in the establishment of a number of joint committees to work on areas of common concern to all clerks.

The Administrative Services Subcommittee of the Clerks Advisory Committee developed a Procurement Deskbook to be used by procurement clerks in the courts. The Deskbook is a simplified workbook closely cross-referenced to the Guide to Judiciary Policies and Procedures. It was planned, edited, and designed for maximum simplicity and usefulness to be a practical day-to-day reference source for prospective and practicing procurement clerks and for executives seeking answers to questions regarding procurement procedures.

Arbitration

All ten district courts participating in the arbitration pilot project have programs in operation and have implemented local rules governing these programs. The programs vary with respect to specific procedures such as the types of cases involved, the method for selecting arbitrators, and the place of hearings. At the request of the Administrative Office the Federal Judicial Center Research Division continues to evaluate program satisfaction and collect descriptive caseload statistics. In January 1986, the Federal Judicial Center issued the first of three reports on the program. To assist in the operation of the programs, fifteen deputy clerks were allocated to the clerks' offices of the pilot courts. In light of the potential benefits of court-annexed arbitration for the Federal judicial system, the level of funding was maintained for this year.

Reduction in the Distribution of Statistical Reports

In response to the advent of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Reduction Act of 1985, otherwise known as the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act, the printing and distribution of statistical reports published by the Statistical Analysis and Reports Division will be reduced by more than 50 percent. Generally, the reports will be distributed automatically to chief judges, circuit executives, clerks of courts of appeals and district courts and Federal court libraries. The reports will be available to others on request. The content of several of the reports will also be reduced significantly, especially for the quarterly Federal Judicial Workload Statistics. SARD will continue to provide any supportive statistics which are not published but may be required by the courts.

Court Interpreting Services

In 1986, the Administrative Office certified 29 additional court interpreters for English/Spanish proceedings based on tests developed and administered by its contractor, the University of Arizona. This brought the total number of certified interpreters to 291. The statistics of interpreter use during 1986 by language follow:

Judicial Survivors' Annuities System (JSAS)

There has been a steady decrease in JSAS participation (election) by newly-appointed judges since 1982 (Table 21). Actual participants have declined from 687 to 653, a relative decrease from 78.5 percent of the total judges eligible to 65.4 percent of the total. The number of annuitants has remained relatively constant since 1979, with never fewer than 185 nor more than 198 survivor spouses on the roll at the end of each year.

New JSAS legislation was signed by the President on June 19, 1986, and the results of those changes in terms of participation will be reflected in the next Annual Report of the Director.

The JSAS undisbursed balance (Table 22) has increased steadily through the years and annual reviews by outside parties have continued to find it sound actuarially. The investment holdings, par amounts, and interest rates are listed in Table 23.

JUDICIAL APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES

FISCAL YEAR 1986

The Judiciary began fiscal year 1986 without an appropriations bill enacted by both Houses of the Congress. Funding was initially authorized through a joint resolution (P.L. 99-103), approved September 30, 1985, allowing the Judiciary to operate at the "current rate" which was a rate equal to the fiscal year 1985 appropriations less any unobligated balances at the end of the year which were available for obligation in fiscal year 1986. The President signed the Judiciary's appropriations bill on December 13, 1985 (P.L. 99-180). The bill amounted to $1,048,550,000, exclusive of the Supreme Court. This amount was augmented by $27,740,000 in unobligated balances in certain appropriations from 1985 which were to remain available until the end of fiscal year 1986. In addition, $1,125,000 in "no-year" funding was available for telephone systems purchases and Congress authorized the reprogramming of $2,000,000 from the "no-year" account for new judgeships to the annual account for the operations and maintenance of the courts. As a result, total spending authority for 1986 was $1,079,415,000 (exclusive of the Supreme Court).

On December 12, 1985, the President signed the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, P.L. 99-177. The effect of the Act was to sequester 4.3 percent of the Judiciary's 1986 appropriations. The only exception was the appropriation for the salaries of Article III judges. As a result of this sequestration, the Judiciary's spending authority was reduced $41,368,000, to a new total of $1,038,047,000. This represented an increase of 5 percent above the budget authority for fiscal year 1985 (exclusive of the unobligated balance that was carried forward for obligation in 1986).

On July 2, 1986, the President signed the supplemental appropriations bill for fiscal year 1986, P.L. 99-349. The bill provided funds for an additional 200 permanent deputy clerk positions and $1,200,000 to staff bankruptcy offices and an additional $3,800,000 for the "Fees of Jurors and Commissioners." This allowed for the resumption of new civil jury trials which were suspended on June 16. The bill also provided $1,300,000 for a study of the construction of an office building for the Federal Judiciary. In addition, the bill provided transfer authority of $8,000,000 into "Salaries of Supporting Personnel" and $3,000,000 into "Space and Facilities." As displayed in Table 24, the total budget authorization for 1986 is $1,044,347,000.

FISCAL YEAR 1987

On July 17, 1986, the full House approved the Judiciary's appropriations bill (excluding the Supreme Court) for 1987 totaling $1,097,319,000 (see Table 25). This represents an increase of $83,837,000, or 8.3 percent, above the budget authority for 1986, but is $106,278,000 less than the original amount requested. The majority of this reduction ($53,481,000) resulted from an across-the-board reduction of 5.03 percent voted by the full House (salaries of Article III judges were exempted). The House also did not allow the restoration of the amounts sequestered in 1986 and reduced the number of new positions authorized in 1987. The across-the-board reduction of 5.03 percent is being appealed to the Senate. None of the other reductions are being appealed.

The House allowance reduces the amount approved for 1985 of jurors in 1987 to less than the amount appropriated for 1986, despite a projected increase in jury trials by reason of the activities of newly appointed judges. The House Appropriations Committee approved additional personnel for clerks' offices, probation and pretrial services, based on staffing at a level of 94 percent of the formula allowance established by the Judicial Conference. If filings increase as we now project, the full House reduction in appropriations would result in staffing these functions at only 85 percent of the formula allowance.

If the Judiciary's appeal to the Senate to restore the arbitrary 5.03 percent across-the-board reduction is unsuccessful, the Judiciary again may have to consider some extreme actions to operate within the approved amounts.

As a result of the reductions mandated by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, the Judiciary's budget for fiscal year 1987 was amended to consolidate, into one account, the four appropriations which provide for the salaries and expenses of the "Courts of Appeals, District Courts, and Other Judicial Services." These four appropriations are as follows: "Salaries of Judges," "Salaries of Supporting Personnel," "Expenses of Operation and Maintenance of the Courts," and "Space and Facilities." This consolidation will permit the flexibility, when needed, to reprogram funds, with the approval of the Appropriations Committees, between personnel and operating expenses. The House approved the consolidation of accounts.

Based on the assumption that the appeal to the Senate to restore the across-the-board decrease will be successful, the following summary, by appropriation, addresses the 1987 request as approved by the House Appropriations Committee.

Salaries and Expenses

As noted above, the House Appropriations Committee has approved the consolidation of the four operating accounts for the courts of appeals and district courts into one account titled "Salaries and Expenses." The 1987 allowance of $940,000,000 represents an increase of $154,234,000 over 1986. This account provides for the salaries of judges, magistrates, and all other officers and employees not otherwise specifically provided for, and for all necessary expenses including charges for space and facilities. In order to maintain the integrity of the old accounts and to accommodate the Appropriations Committees' reprogramming rules, the four accounts have been identified as "activities" within the consolidated appropriation. The 1987 allowance for each of the four "activities" follows.

Salaries of Judges

The 1987 allowance of $105,000,000 is identical to the amount requested and reflects an increase of $2,787,000 over 1986. The increase provides for the annualization of salaries associated with the Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984, social security tax rate increases, and an anticipated increase in the number of senior judges.

Salaries of Supporting Personnel

The Committee allowance of $515,000,000 reflects an increase of $59,321,000 over the budget authority for fiscal year 1986. The Committee has approved 300 additional deputy clerks for the courts of appeals, district courts, and bankruptcy courts and 240 additional positions for probation and pretrial services. This approval contemplates that the clerks and probation offices will continue to be staffed at 94 percent of the formula allowance adopted by the Judicial Conference. Funding for these positions anticipates a 40 percent savings as a result of spreading the appointments to these positions over the year as the workload increases, rather than filling all positions at the beginning of the year.

The other new positions authorized include: 7 full-time magistrates and related staff and 11 legal assistants for magistrates; 10 supporting personnel for circuit executives; 30 supporting personnel for judges who take senior status; 12 positions for pre-argument conference programs; 6 court interpreters; and 55 positions with no additional funding to support the electronic sound recording program.

Expenses of Operation and Maintenance of the Courts

The amount authorized for 1987, $145,000,000, is an increase of $15,805,000 over the budget authority for 1986. This increase provides for: the expenses relating to the requests for new personnel; the expansion of automated systems in the courts; furniture and furnishings required incident to major construction projects; and increases in contract rates and charges for services, supplies, and equipment. The Committee also approved an increase of $1,500,000 for the drug dependent offenders program.

Space and Facilities

The sum of $175,000,000 was authorized for 1987, representing an increase of $34,321,000 over 1986. The Committee has allowed $160,000,000 for space rental charges to be assessed by the General Services Administration (GSA) and $15,000,000 for overtime utilities, alterations and repairs and other related services.

Defender Services

The amount approved for the operation of Federal Public Defender and Community Defender organizations and the compensation and expenses of court-appointed attorneys is $72,000,000, which is $12,857,000 more than the budget authority for 1986. The Committee has approved an appropriation language change which authorizes compensation and reimbursement of expenses of "standby attorneys" to assist the court where the defendant has waived counsel.

Fees of Jurors and Commissioners

The 1987 allowance of $47,000,000 represents an increase of $1,666,000 over the amount available for 1986. The Committee anticipates that further savings will be accomplished by reason of improvements in the management and utilization of petit jurors and the consolidation, extension, and coordination of future grand jury sessions. It is contemplated that the United States Attorneys' offices will cooperate in efforts to reduce grand jury costs.

Court Security

The sum of $36,500,000 has been provided for security services and equipment for the U.S. courts, representing an increase of $5,158,000 over the budget authority for 1986. Provision has been made for 226 additional contract security officers to be phased in during fiscal year 1987.

EXPANSION OF BUDGET ALLOCATION SYSTEM

As part of the continuing effort to streamline administrative procedures and improve financial control and accountability in the courts, the number of annual allocations to the courts for specific expenditures was expanded at the beginning of fiscal year 1986 to include equipment maintenance agreements and tenant alterations, repairs, overtime utilities, and other reimbursable services obtained from GSA for amounts up to $2,500 per Reimbursable Work Authorization. Local procurement authority was later revised to include other expense items of less than $2,500, such as cleaning and janitorial services, non-GSA space rental, and procurement of space related equipment (e.g., courtroom sound systems). This expansion of allocation authority is in addition to the previous allocations for: intra-circuit/district travel; furniture and furnishings; supplies and miscellaneous services; copier equipment rental; and publication of notices and advertising.

DISTRICT COURT AUTOMATED FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

The automated financial management system developed for the courts has been successfully tested in three pilot courts: Texas, Western; Pennsylvania, Eastem; and North Carolina, Eastem. Because of the successful efforts of the pilot courts in debugging software, we are now in the process of installing the system in seven additional courts. As courts become proficient in the operation of the new financial system, the transactions will be electronically transmitted from the courts to the central accounting system. Currently, there are two courts, Texas, Western and North Carolina, Eastern, that are automatically transmitting their data to the Administrative Office. The interface eliminates the need to enter manually the court's financial transactions into the central accounting system, and improves the accuracy of the data entered.

FINANCIAL LOSES AND IRREGULARITIES IN ACCOUNTS

During the 12 month period ended June 30, 1986, there were seven losses totaling $962.50 reported to the Administrative Office by the courts. This compares with eight losses totaling $910.50 during the prior year. Of the seven losses reported during the past year, the Administrative Office has recovered the funds in three cases. In one case, a clerk of court is being held responsible for the loss because of inadequate internal control procedures. The three remaining losses pending resolution totaling $355.00 appear to be the result of robberies and are currently being investigated by the FBI. In addition, there is a potential loss of $700.00, representing the cost of replacing a stock certificate which was lost when transferred by mail from one court to another.

REGISTRY FUNDS

There is a total of $1,223,192,526 in the registry fund account of the U.S. Courts. This represents an increase of $92 million or 7.5 percent over the prior year. There are $1,128,238,192 in the custody of the district courts and $94,954,334 in the custody of the bankruptcy courts. These moneys are deposited as follows:

In 1985, the Financial Management Division initiated new procedures whereby the courts were able to arrange for the pledging of collateral directly with the financial institutions, the Federal Reserve Banks, and the Treasury. The system proved to be very successful and, as a result, in 1986 the Treasury Department implemented these procedures throughout the Government for all public moneys. Tables 26 and 27 show the amounts on deposit in the Treasury and in local depositaries for the respective district and bankruptcy courts.

REPORT OF COMPLAINTS FILED AND ACTION TAKEN UNDER TITLE 28 U.S.C. SECTION 372(c)

Any person alleging that a Federal judge or magistrate has engaged in conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts, or that such officer cannot discharge all the duties of the office because of physical or mental disability, may file a complaint with the clerk of the appropriate court of appeals or national court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 372(c). Such complaints are initially reviewed by the chief judge of the court, who may dismiss the complaint if it is not in compliance with the filing provisions of Section 372(c); directly related to the merits of a judicial decision; or frivolous. The chief judge may also conclude the proceeding if corrective action has been taken. Otherwise he shall appoint a special committee to investigate the allegations in the complaint on behalf of the judicial council. The judicial councils are granted power to take appropriate action, except that in no circumstances may the council order removal from office of a judge appointed to serve during good behavior under Article III of the Constitution.

The disposition of complaints is not judicially reviewable on appeal (as provided by Section 372(c)(10)). The complainant or the judicial officer may, however, petition the judicial council for review of any order of a chief judge dismissing a complaint. Petition may also be made to the Judicial Conference for review of judicial council orders issued after special committee investigation. The Conference is permitted to act on such petitions directly or to establish a standing committee to take final action on its behalf. In July 1982, the Chief Justice appointed the Judicial Conference Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability Orders, consisting of three judges, who act for the Conference in its review responsibility under Section 372(c)(10).

As shown in Table 28, the number of judicial complaints rose substantially during 1986. There were 312 complaints filed, 61 percent more than the 194 filed in 1985. This increase results partially from the filing of multiple complaints by certain individual complainants. For example, the First Circuit reported the largest numerical increase (up 27) in complaints filed. More than two-thirds of these complaints, however, were filed by the same complainant. The Second Circuit reported the largest number with 56 complaints filed. Again, over half of these complaints were filed by the same person. In sharp contrast, no complaints were filed in the Court of International Trade. Table 29 summarizes, by circuit, judicial complaint activity during 1986.

Each individual complaint filed may involve multiple allegations against numerous court officials. For example, in the Second Circuit one complainant filed numerous complaints against every judge sitting on the court of appeals. Nationwide, the allegation cited most often (106 times) was that a judicial officer acted in a prejudicial or biased manner. Eighty-seven alleged abuse of judicial power and 35 alleged undue decisional delays. More than one-third of the complaints (118) alleged "other" conduct that was detrimental to the effective and expeditious administration of the court's business. Most of these complaints, however, were outside the jurisdiction of Title 28 U.S.C. Section 372(c) because they were directly related to the merits of the court's decision in the original case.

Two hundred-eighty complaints were concluded in 1986, 30 percent more than a year ago. The vast majority of complaints (81 percent) were concluded by the chief judges. They dismissed 218 complaints, ruling that 171 were directly related to the merits; 27 were not in conformance with the statute; and 20 were frivolous. Appropriate corrective action had already been taken in eight complaints, and one was withdrawn by the complainant. The remaining 53 complaints were disposed of by the judicial councils of the circuits. All 53 of these complaints reached the councils by way of petition for review. The councils denied or dismissed all of the petitions.

Since filings outnumbered terminations, the number of complaints pending more than doubled from 27 in 1985 to 59 in 1986.

During 1986, no complaints reached the Judicial Conference Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability Orders under Section 372(c)(10); however, the Judicial Conference acted directly on one complaint referred to it by the Ninth Circuit Judicial Council under Section 372(c)(7)(B)(i). The Conference therein certified to the House of Representatives that consideration of impeachment of an United States district judge may be warranted, as provided in Section 372(c)(8).

REPORT OF FEES AND EXPENSES AWARDED UNDER THE EQUAL ACCESS TO JUSTICE ACT

THE EQUAL ACCESS TO JUSTICE ACT

The Equal Access to Justice Act, reauthorized by Public Law 99-80, 99 STAT. 183, lessens the financial burden on private parties who prevail against the U.S. in agency adversary adjudications or non-tort civil actions by authorizing the award of attorney fees and expert witness fees. The Act also covers outlays for any study, analysis, engineering report, test, or project necessary in building a case. To be eligible for such an award, the party must prevail and meet certain financial requirements of the statute. Even when the private party prevails against the U.S. and is determined to be financially eligible, the attorney fees and other expenses requested can be denied if the U.S. can demonstrate that its position was "substantially justified." Petitions for fees may also be denied if the court finds that the private litigant used delaying tactics or if special circumstances exist which would make an award unjust.

AMENDMENT TO 1985 REPORT

After the 1985 report was published, data were received on 15 additional fee determinations made prior to June 30, 1985. These cases are included in Table 30, raising the total number of applications terminated during 1985 to 577. Nearly 73 percent of these applications were granted. The Federal courts awarded a total of $1,912,768 to the successful applicants.

ANALYSIS AND SUMMARY OF 1986 DATA

During 1986, Federal courts disposed of 657 applications for attorney fees and other expenses, nearly 14 percent more than in 1985. Approximately 88 percent (585) were handled in the U.S. district courts. Three districts, New Jersey (108); New York, Western (68); and Pennsylvania, Eastern (62) accounted for more than one-third of the total number of terminated applications. The U.S. courts of appeals decided 67 equal access applications with the Ninth Circuit terminating the most (17). The remaining five applications were disposed of in the U.S. Claims Court. Table 31 summarizes equal access data during 1986.

As in prior years the vast majority of equal access applications (88 percent) were filed against the Department of Health and Human Services. Nearly all these cases involve termination of disability benefits under the Social Security Act. The Federal courts awarded attorney fees in nearly 90 percent of these cases because the Social Security Administration terminated benefits without substantial justification. Twenty-five other agencies were involved in at least one equal access decision. The Internal Revenue Service was involved in 11 applications while the National Labor Relations Board and the Department of the Interior were involved in eight each.

Once again, more than two thirds (459) of the terminated applications were original applications under Title 28 U.S.C. Section 2412(d)(1)(A), after judgment in a civil case against the U.S. Another one-fourth (160) were original applications under Title 28 U.S.C. Section 2412(d)(3), after the court reviewed an agency decision. Thirty applications involved an appeal of a lower court decision. The appellate court affirmed the lower court in 23 cases and reversed in the other seven. Cases remanded to lower courts for further proceedings are not included in this report.

Personer did not specify an amount in the request for attorney fees.

Eight equal access decisions were made after a petition for leave to appeal an administrative agency's fee determination had been filed pursuant to Title 5 U.S.C. Section 504(c)(2). The agency's denial of attorney fees was reversed in two cases. On both occasions, the court found that the denial of attorney fees was an abuse of discretion.

Federal courts granted 555 (84 percent) requests for attorney fees and other expenses, awarding a total of $2,533,126. This is not the amount actually received by successful applicants, however, because many awards are appealed. The vast majority of the total amount (96 percent) awarded is for attorney fees. The remainder was for reports, expert witness fees, and other expenses such as travel.

Compared to 1985, both the total number of awards and the total amount awarded rose 32 percent. The largest award involved the Department of Health and Human Services. In Hyatt v. Heckler, 618 F. Supp. 227 (W.D.N.C. 1985), the court awarded $194,797 in a class action suit alleging the arbitrary termination of disability benefits. Three other awards were in excess of $100,000.

Of the 102 denied applications, nearly three-fourths (74) were denied because the court found the U.S. position "substantially justified" as reasonable in law and in fact. Twelve were denied because the applicant was not the prevailing party; 10 because the application was not filed in a timely fashion; 3 because the court did not have jurisdiction to hear the request; 2 because the applicant did not file according to local court rules; and 1 because the applicant should have filed under another fee-shifting statute.

THE JUDICIARY EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM

This report is prepared in accordance with a resolution by the Judicial Conference requiring the Director of the Administrative Office to include in his Annual Report an analysis and evaluation of the Judiciary Equal Employment Opportunity Program, as well as a copy of the report submitted by each court on the implementation of its equal employment opportunity plan (1979 Conf. Rept. 58, as amended by 1980 Conf. Rept. 5). A detailed two-volume report has been published under separate cover and is being presented to the Conference with this Annual Report.

The Program

At its September 1979 session, the Judicial Conference adopted a resolution that reaffirmed its 1966 endorsement of the national policy for a positive program to ensure equal employment opportunity and directed its Court Administration Committee, with the assistance of the Administrative Office to develop a model affirmative action plan for adoption by each court. The Conference's resolution also required each court to submit an annual report on its EEO program to the Director of the Administrative Office for review and evaluation and required that an evaluation of the EEO program be included in the Director's Annual Report (1979 Conf. Rept. 58). At its March 1980 session, the Conference approved a model affirmative action plan for adoption by each court and modified its September 1979 resolution to require that the Director also include a copy of the report submitted by each court in his Annual Report (1980 Conf. Rept. 5).

Each court has implemented an equal employment opportunity program that covers all employees, including judges' staffs and court officers and their staffs. The EEO program in each court encompasses all facets of personnel management, including recruitment, hiring, promotion, suspension, and termination. Courts must seek qualified applicants who reflect the makeup of the relevant labor market and all employment decisions must be based on merit without regard to race, sex, color, national origin, religion, age, or handicap. The EEO program also provides for the processing of discrimination complaints filed by employees or applicants for employment. Each court has appointed an Equal Employment Opportunity Coordinator who is responsible for the day-to-day administration of its EEO program. Within the Administrative Office the Office of Equal Employment Opportunity and Special Projects (EEO Office) administers and coordinates the Judiciary Equal Employment Opportunity Program.

Analysis and Summary

This annual report covers the sixth year of operations in the courts under the Judiciary Equal Employment Opportunity Program. The statistical data collected cover full-time permanent and full-time temporary indefinite employees. The table below shows the composition of the work force on June 30, 1986.

	Percent of Work Force	Percent Change 1986/1985
White	79.1	6.5
Black	12.0	10.1
Hispanic	6.5	6.6
Asian	2.1	14.4
American Indian	0.3	8.2
Handicapped	1.4	-5.5
Male	34.0	5.5
Female	66.0	7.9

The courts have established and maintained standard recruitment procedures and have continued their efforts to recruit qualified minorities and women. Such efforts have routinely included the wide -spread publication of job announcements through posting job announcements in the courts, placing advertisements in newspapers of general circulation, circulating job announcements to federal, state, and local agencies, as well as colleges, universities and organizations with large minority, women and handicapped enrollments. The reports indicate a continuing commitment to attracting highly qualified employees who reflect a cross-section of the relevant labor markets. In the area of recruitment, as in previous reporting years, the EEO Office notified all accredited law schools of the availability of employment opportunities in the courts for law students and law graduates.

Some courts reported that they were still experiencing difficulty in attracting a more representative applicant pool. Of the 112 courts covered under the Judiciary Equal Employment Opportunity Program, only eight courts did not have any full-time permanent or full-time indefinite minority employees. They were (the total number of employees in the court is indicated in parenthesis): Maine (44); New Hampshire (33); Vermont (34); Pennsylvania, Middle (72); Kentucky, Eastern (115); Iowa, Northern (50); Alaska (55); and Special Court, Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973 (2). This year there were only two courts that did not have women in professional legal, professional general, administrative, or technical positions (the number in parenthesis indicates the number of males in such positions): Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals (2) and Northern Mariana Islands (4). The most frequently cited reasons for the inability to attract qualified minority or women applicants included the low rate of attrition, the small pool of minority applicants, and the noncompetitive salary levels and fringe benefits in comparison with the private sector.

The percentage of handicapped persons in the work force decreased again slightly from 1.5 percent to 1.4 percent. The courts reported a contuinuing effort to promote the recruitment and advancement of handicapped individuals.

The courts again reported progress in providing in-house training and development opportunities for employees. The majority of the courts focused on the internal development of training and advancement programs because of budgetary constraints.

Eighteen new discrimination complaints were filed by employees or applicants for employment during the year. The total number of active complaints (new complaints plus carryovers from last year) decreased from 24 (18 new complaints plus 6 carryovers) to 23 (18 new complaints plus 5 carryovers). There was also a decrease from 18 to 16 in the number of courts that had new or pending complaints during the year. Of the 23 active complaints, 16 were resolved and seven were pending at the close of the reporting period. For the second time since the EEO Program's inception, three new complaints alleging reprisal were filed in the district courts.

Conclusion

The annual reports received from the courts indicate that the courts are complying with their equal employment opportunity plans.

APPENDIX II PAYMENTS UNDER THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1985

TO THE CHAIRMAN AND MEMBERS OF THE JUDICIAL CONFERENCE COMMITTEE TO IMPLEMENT THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT

The following is a report of activities relating to the Criminal Justice Act (CJA) during fiscal year 1985 (FY 85) which ended on September 30, 1985.

Status of Appropriations

The Congress appropriated $64,367,000 for "Defender Services" for FY 85. This amount included an approved program supplemental of $21,992,000 (primarily to provide for costs associated with the increase in CJA compensation rates and maximums which went into effect October 12, 1984) and a pay cost supplemental of $375,000. It is estimated that obligations for FY 85 will be $59,051,000, leaving an unobligated balance of $5,316,000 which will be available for use in FY 86.

Federal Defender Organizations (FDO) 1	$21,979,000
CJA Panel Attorneys	33,245,000
Investigative, Expert & Other Services	1,194,000 2
Transcripts	2,625,000
General Administrative Expense	8,000
Total	$59,051,000

The terms Federal Defender Organizations and Federal Defenders, as used in this report, refer to both Federal Public and Community Defender Organizations.

The Congress has appropriated $61,800,000 for "Defender Services for FY 86.

This amount includes FDO expenses of $439,000 for investigative, expert and other services which are not included in the FDO total above.

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984

The enforcement of several provisions of the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 (CCCA) is likely to have a significant impact on both the CJA caseload and workload. These include:

- preventive detention hearings under the Bail Reform Act of 1984 (which require more hours in and out of court and involve more complex bail appeals);
- additional jury trials related to the Armed Career Criminal Act of 1984 (which will increase caseload and discourage guilty pleas because of the 15 year mandatory prison term);
- the expansion of criminal forfeiture provisions in the Comprehensive Forfeiture Act of 1984 to all drug related felonies (application to attorneys' fees may result in freezing of defendant's funds causing inability to retain counsel and need for CJA representation);
- the Insanity Defense Reform Act of 1984 (which provides for CJA representation in new types of hearings related to the determination of an individual's mental condition); and
- 5. the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 (guidelines may, if they are relatively inflexible, remove incentive for entry of guilty pleas, result in more trials, and require more extensive preparation time and longer sentencing hearings; option for government and defendant appeals will increase appellate litigation).

Pending Legislation

On December 9, 1985, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 3004, the Judicial Conference supported bill to amend the Criminal Justice Act, which would eliminate the in-court/out-of-court rate differential for attorney compensation and establish a single maximum of $50 per hour. In addition, the Judicial Conference would be authorized to increase the maximum rate to up to $75 per hour for a circuit or a particular district within a circuit to compensate for differences in economic conditions. In addition, the bill would further increase the case compensation maximums beyond the doubling effected by the CCCA. The following table compares the current case compensation maximums with those provided in H.R. 3004.

	Current Maximum	H.R. 3004
Felony	$2,000	$5,000
Misdemeanor	800	1,500
Appeal	2,000	3,000
Other Representation	500	1,000

Finally, H.R. 3004 would increase the maximums for investigative, expert and other services obtained without prior judicial authorization from $150 to $300 and for those with prior judicial authorization from $300 to $1,000 and would permit nunc pro tunc authorization in exigent circumstances. S. 1581, a bill similar to H.R. 3004, is currently pending in the Senate.

Representation in Federal Courts

During FY 85, approximately 54,600 persons were represented in the United States courts pursuant to the provisions of the CJA. This compares with 50,704 appointments in FY 84 and 50,230 appointments in FY 83. The number of appointments in FY 85 was thus 7.7 percent greater than those in FY 84 and 8.7 percent greater than in FY 83.

The following tables compare appointments of counsel, and distribution of CJA funds, between panel attorneys and Federal Defenders for fiscal years 1983, 1984, and 1985.

^{*} These figures do not reflect cancellations, waivers and terminations.

At the close of statistical year 1985, judiciary caseload statistics reflected that during the twelve month period ending June 30, 1985, a total of 39,500 criminal cases were filed, an increase of 7.2 percent from the statistical year 1984 level of 36,845. Criminal case filings increased in every circuit except the Sixth, Seventh, and the District of Columbia. The pending criminal caseload as of June 30, 1985 was 22,299 cases, an increase of 11.8 percent over 1984, its highest level since 1975.

Statistical year 1985 criminal filings increased in 12 of the 15 major offense categories. The primary contributor to the increase in the criminal caseload related to the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (DAPCA). Case filings under DAPCA rose from a 1984 total of 5,609 to a 1985 total of 6,693, an increase of 19.3 percent. Prosecutions under the narcotics provisions alone rose by 30.1 percent, while filings for marijuana and controlled substances violations rose by 5.6 percent and 18.5 percent, respectively.

Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force Program

The President's Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force Program, which began reviewing cases in January 1983, was designed to disrupt major drug trafficking organizations operating in the United States, many of which are international in scope. According to information provided by the Department of Justice, Task Force budgets have totalled nearly $400 million to date, and the personnel include 1,076 agents, 272 prosecutors, and 456 support employees. State and local officers also participate in nearly half of the Task Force investigations. More than 700 of these officers have been designated Special Deputy U.S. Marshals to enable them to work on cases outside of their jurisdictions. In addition, these law enforcement efforts have drawn substantial support from foreign law enforcement agencies. Five percent of Task Force cases now involve direct participation by foreign police. The Task Forces are in addition to the regular drug enforcement programs of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Drug Enforcement Administration, and other agencies.

By mid-November 1985, Task Force cases had been initiated throughout the country, producing 1,907 indictments involving a total of 7,213 defendants. Of these defendants 447 have been charged under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (RICO) statute, while 338 defendants were charged under the Continuing Criminal Enterprise (CCE) statute.

Although it is difficult to project how many Task Force defendants will receive representation under the CJA, Federal Defenders report that they are receiving such appointments. The appointments result from the fact that lower level operatives are frequently prosecuted by either the Task Force or local U.S. Attorney's offices. In addition, the asset attachment and forfeiture provisions of the CCCA may increase the number of higher level Task Force defendants who are found eligible for CJA services. Federal defender organizations have experienced a 55 percent increase in appointments in drug cases; from 1,980 in FY 82 (prior to the inception of the Task Force Program) to 3,066 in FY 85. Similarly, in-court hours for Federal Defender drug related cases have increased during this same period by 63 percent; from 8,219 to 13,414. A substantial proportion of these increases are believed to be attributable to Task Force activities. The Administrative Office will continue to monitor the impact of this program on the volume of CJA cases to insure that corresponding increases in the need for defense services can be met.

Compensation for Extended or Complex Representation

The following table reflects only those excess compensation claims both opened and processed during the appropriate fiscal year.

The number of payments in excess of the attorney case compensation maximums during FY 85 was 1,873, a decrease of approximately 32 percent from the 2,767 total for FY 84. These claims include cases opened in prior fiscal years. Payments in FY 85 amount to $8,013,652, an increase of approximately 14 percent from the $7,035,723 total for the same period in FY 84.

We attribute the 32 percent decrease in the number of payments and the relatively small (14 percent) increase in the total amount of excess compensation payments to the fact that the new case compensation maximums are being applied to any case in which legal services were performed after October 12, 1984 (the effective date of the increase in the CJA hourly rates of compensation and case compensation maximums provided in Chapter XIX of the CCCA). Thus, cases in which CJA services were initiated but not concluded prior to October 12, 1984, would not appear on the present excess compensation computer listing unless the compensation total exceeds the new higher limits.

The CCCA has not apparently had a major impact on the number of payments in excess of the attorney case compensation maximums with respect to those claims actually opened and processed during FY 85. On the other hand, the projected doubling of the average payment per panel attorney case has occurred. The Administrative Office will continue to monitor payments in an effort to ascertain whether this pattern continues. The following is a summary of excess compensation claims paid during FY 85 for both attorneys and expert services:

- 1,412 excess payments in felony cases were approved. The largest of these payments amounted to $53,174 in a criminal civil rights case in the Middle District of North Carolina. The average for all such payments was $5,233.
- 55 excess payments for extended or complex representation in misdemeanor cases were approved. The largest of these payments was $12,415 in a fraud case in the Northern District of Illinois. The average for all such payments was $1,684.
- 406 claims were approved for extended or complex discretionary appointments. The largest payment was for $9,170 for a habeas petitioner in the Northern District of Illinois; and the average for all matters was $1,310.
- 4. 615 claims for compensation for expert and other services of an unusual character or duration were approved and paid. The largest single payment was $33,613 for an investigator in the District of Hawaii; and the average cost per case was $1,291.

Transcripts, Investigative, Expert and Other Services

As of November 30, 1985, $3,484,355 had been paid from the FY85 Criminal Justice Act appropriation for transcripts, investigative, expert and other services. It is estimated that, as later claims attributable to FY 85 are approved and paid, the total for FY 85 will amount to $3,841,000. The following tables reflect the cost of providing these services from FY 82 through FY 84, and estimates for FY 85 through FY 87.

Federal Defender Organizations

Expansion of the Federal Defender Program continued with the creation of two Federal Public Defender Organizations. On November 1, 1985, the Federal Public Defender Organization for the Northern, Eastern, and Western Districts of Oklahoma was established, with its headquarters office in Oklahoma City, a staffed branch office in Tulsa, and an unstaffed branch office in Muskogee. A Federal Public Defender Organization for the Eastern District of North Carolina commenced operations on June 10, 1985, with its headquarters in Raleigh.

In September 1984, the Judicial Conference approved funding for the establishment of a Federal Public Defender Organization for the Middle District of Pennsylvania. Subsequently, following a reevaluation of the projected caseload for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, the Middle and Western Districts of Pennsylvania amended their CJA plans to authorize the existing Federal Public Defender Organization for the Western District of Pennsylvania to establish branch offices and provide representation in the Middle District of Pennsylvania. A branch office in Harrisburg opened on December 2, 1985, and a branch office in Scranton is expected to be operational by February 1986.

In September 1985, the Judicial Conference approved funding for the establishment of a staffed branch office for the Western District of Washington in the District of Alaska at Anchorage. This branch office is expected to be opened by April 1986.

The Federal Public Defender Organization for the Eastern District of Kentucky ceased operations on June 14, 1985.

Although a final accounting has not yet been completed, the cost of operating the Federal Defender Organizations during FY 85 is estimated to have been $22,418,000 or 10.1 percent less than the amount authorized. Approximately 78.2 percent of the cost of the operation of 41 Federal Defender Organizations in FY 85 was expended for personnel compensation and benefits.

A total of 28,680 cases were opened by Federal Defenders in FY 85, and 28,368 were closed. Increases in caseload were realized by 67 percent of the reporting Defender Organizations during FY 85. The office experiencing the highest volume during this period was the Southern District of California with 5,584 openings. This organization closed 5,528 cases, 3,505 of which were immigration and petty offense cases. Exhibit B reflects the openings, closings, hours expended in court, and pending caseload for the reporting offices for FY 85.

Based upon original budget and grant submissions, as a group, Federal Defenders realized 103 percent of their projected caseloads. This compares with 107.9 percent and 108.4 percent for fiscal year 1984 and 1983, respectively.
